INQUIRY COURT HALTED

Oswald's Widow Tells Of Attempt On Gen. Walker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr announced Friday that he has called off a state court of inquiry into circumstances surrounding the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The Texas official, making the announcement from the Justice Department, said he reacted in compliance with a suggestion by Chief Justice Earl Warren, who heads the commission appointed by President Johnson to conduct a similar inquiry.

This turn in the investigative aftermath of the Nov. 22 assassination came some hours after a report that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, the accused killer, told his wife he tried to shoot Gen. Edwin A. Walker eight months ago.

A bullet fired through a window into the right-wing general's Dallas home on April 10 narrowly missed Walker and he was slightly cut by flying glass.

BOASTFUL, EXCITED

Government sources said Marina Oswald, Russian-born wife of the Marxist ex-Marine who told federal agents that Oswald came home and boasted excitedly of his exploit on the night of the attempt on Walker's life.

Carr said he has been invited to participate with the presidential commission in its study and will do so, standing ready at all times to call a court of inquiry into session in Texas if it can be useful in questioning of witnesses in his state.

He also made it plain to newsmen that a court of inquiry still may be convened in his state after the presidential commission concludes its work if he feels any good purpose would be served in convening the state investigating body.

Carr said he has been here in Washington with Leon Jaworski, Houston lawyer he had engaged to serve on a state court of inquiry if it should be convened, and that they had been in conferences with the chief justice, Federal Bureau of Investigation and Nicholas Katzenbach, deputy U. S. attorney general.

"We are convinced that the investigative authority of the federal government is being used," Carr said.

Walker News Stuns Mother Of Lee Oswald

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Marguerite Oswald, mother of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin, said Friday she is at a loss for words over reports that Lee Harvey Oswald's wife has said Oswald attempted to kill former Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Mrs. Oswald said: "I can't believe this. I just don't know what to say. What is she—Marina, Oswald's Russian-born wife—trying to do? I hadn't seen Marina in a year until I saw her in the jail at Dallas. I can't imagine why she would say this. It sounds like just another rumor."

The mother and the wife visited Oswald in the Dallas jail. Oswald was killed as police attempted to transfer him to another jail. Jack Ruby, Dallas nightclub owner, is charged with killing Oswald.

Newspapers in Washington and Chicago both published stories Friday that evidence possibly links Oswald to the incident April 10 when someone shot at Walker.

Rail Unions Try To Upset Board Ruling

Also Challenge Constitutionality Of Arbitration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four railroad unions went to court Friday in a concerted attempt to upset the finding of an arbitration board, that railroads can for the most part do without firemen on diesel locomotives.

The board was established by Congress. The unions also challenge the constitutionality of the law, enacted in August to avoid a strike.

The board ruled Nov. 26 that set up the arbitration board. The board rules Nov. 26 that 90 per cent of the firemen's jobs on freight and yard locomotives should be eliminated gradually because other crew members can perform the duties of the firemen.

FEATHERBEDDING

The ruling, involving the so-called "featherbedding" issue, also called for renewed negotiation on the size of train crews and set up a system of arbitration in case of deadlock.

The suit was filed in federal court by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers filed a separate suit also attacking the award as illegal and challenging establishment of the board.

The suit filed by the three unions asked that the award be labelled void. It also asked that the court meanwhile keep the award from taking effect as scheduled Jan. 24.

The unions charged that the arbitration board exceeded the authority given it by Congress and failed to follow congressional directives. The unions maintained that some progress had been made in union-management negotiations before they foundered and that these agreements or tentative agreements were swept aside by the award.

Awards Medals Of Freedom To Pope John, JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson on Friday wrestled with problems centering around the Atlantic alliance and military spending and awarded the Medal of Freedom to John F. Kennedy as a "pioneer for peace."

Johnson made another unannounced posthumous award of the medal, the nation's highest civilian honor for peacetime service. It went to the late Pope John XXIII.

COVERS NATO

Johnson covered the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a projected Allied nuclear force, and military spending in an hour-long conference with defense and state department advisers, including the two secretaries.

He also devoted a lot of time during the day to routine desk work, conferring with members of the White House staff.

Some of those honored were unable to attend. Two of the recipients had died since Kennedy selected them for the awards last July.

Others, with friends and officials looking on, crowded into the state dining room for the ceremony. They included persons such as singer Marian Anderson, French statesman Jean Monnet, Navajo Indian health worker Annie Waunaka, educator James B. Conant, and Felix

Russians Ask Red Chinese To Stop Bickering

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union appealed Friday to the Red Chinese to put an end to the public wrangling that has turned the Communist alliance sour.

The quarrel over Chinese and Soviet attitudes to communism's true path "has gone too far and in many instances has overstepped the standards of relations between fraternal parties," declared Pravda, the Communist party organ.

Pravda held out its olive branch with renewed proposals to halt open propaganda warfare and meet privately to prepare the ground for a world conference of Communist parties.

Terrorists Set Off Bomb In Venezuela

CARACAS (UPI) — Pro-Castro terrorists Friday bombed the front door of the Trinidad Embassy in Caracas and killed a policeman in new outbreaks of anti-government activity.

In Maracaibo, five armed men and a woman machine-gunned and fire-bombed a warehouse of the U.S.-owned Pittsburgh Paint Co., causing $125,000 in damage. There were no casualties.

In another development, the government said it captured the man directly responsible for the kidnapping of U. S. Army Col. James K. Chenault when it seized Juan de Dios Moncada Thursday. He styled himself the supreme commander of the underground armed forces for national liberation.

The arrest of De Dios, a former Venezuelan army officer, was announced Thursday coincident with Chenault's release by terrorists after eight days of captivity. But it was not until Friday that the government held him responsible for Chenault's kidnapping in a propaganda maneuver.

The government announced also raised speculation De Dios' capture might have been due to information given to police by Chenault after the Sherman, Tex., officer's release.

Top Interest In Governor, Local Races

By SAM HANNA
Political Editor

Ten Democratic candidates for governor today hope to do what four men have done in Louisiana in the last 35 years—win in the first primary in what should be a record election.

With 1,165,140 registered Democrats, the turn-out at the polls, opening at 6 a.m. and closing at 8 p.m., is expected to be the largest in the state's history.

ADDED ATTENTION

Besides heavy balloting, the election is receiving added attention since it is the first in the nation since President Kennedy's assassination.

For that reason the Democrats and Republicans are watching Louisiana to test the political effect of the President's death, according to the Associated Press.

With 10 candidates in the first primary, the winner is not anticipated until the January 11th second primary, although the odds of winning a Louisiana governor's race in the first primary are not bad.

Four men, dating back to 1928, have captured first primary victories in the last nine elections— Huey P. Long, 1928, O.K. Allen, 1932; Richard Leche, 1936; and Earl K. Long, 1956.

All belonged to the Long camp.

But since this is the first governor's race since Earl Long's death three years ago, a second primary is practically assured.

Reds To Open Berlin Barrier For Christmas

BERLIN (UPI) — The West German press office said Friday the East German Communists will open the Berlin wall at Christmas for the first time to permit West Berliners to visit friends and relatives in the Eastern sector of the divided city.

But as the Communists sparked bitter joy among West Berliners an almost simultaneous announcement reported that East German police Friday shot and killed another refugee seeking to flee to the West on the frontier near the western city of Luebeck.

The press office announcement was seen by West Berliners as promising possibly their merriest Christmas since the wall was erected Aug. 13, 1961. But it held out no immediate hope of travel for relatives and loved ones in the Communist part of the city—only West Berliners will be allowed to cross the 28-mile-long wall.

The East Berliners remain caged.

West Germany attempted in vain to negotiate Christmas passage through the wall the past two years. Residents in both sectors of the city could only cluster in sight of each other and wave.

Taft To Make Senate Bid In Ohio Primary

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Republican Robert Taft Jr., declaring himself a candidate for the U. S. Senate on Friday, said a national GOP ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater "would make it difficult" for his senatorial campaign in Ohio.

Taft, a congressman-at-large from Cincinnati, fourth generation of his family in Ohio politics, said he thinks Goldwater's chances for the GOP presidential nomination have been hurt by the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Taft, 46, will seek the Senate seat now held by Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, Young, 73, is expected to announce soon that he will seek re-election.

Taft is the son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, who once headed the Republican party in the Senate. Goldwater, a Republican from Arizona, is a leading conservative spokesman today and a top contender for his party's presidential nomination. The elder Taft usually was identified with the conservative faction.

Taft hasn't got a clear road to the Republican nomination for the Senate job. In the May 5 primary he will have to battle Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who announced his candidacy for the Senate last month. No other Democratic hopefuls have appeared in the picture yet.

Taft, appearing relaxed before a battery of newsmen, television cameras and radio microphones, stressed what he called the importance of his relative youth.

"The country has correctly been turning to men who are young enough and flexible enough to find new answers without abandoning the sound principles on which we have built this country," he said.

PRESIDENT'S ASSASSINATION

Rightists Butt Of Blame

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., charged Friday that "rightists and conservatives" are being blamed for President John F. Kennedy's assassination by "people who hope to gain political advantage from warping the uncontestable truth."

"After nearly two weeks of national remembrance," Simpson said, "it seems quite clear why the assault is continuing."

He also decried efforts to blame all of Dallas for the slaying, saying the city "has no reason to don a mantle of guilt because some groups which have aligned themselves with extremist causes are found there."

As the Wyoming Republican spoke to the Senate, the House Republican Policy Committee also denounced "efforts to make Americans generally feel guilty."

The committee of 36, which includes the party's leadership, declared: "Rather than setting American against American, as easily could happen if guilt is misplaced and doubt becomes a device of political debate, the tragic event should serve to set the face and heart of all Americans firmly against the warped and alien doctrine . . . of communism."

The committee said the grief shared by all Americans should not be expected to produce "unanimity on all of the legislative proposals put forward by our late president."

Simpson told the Senate he vehemently resents contentions that "a great deficit in American morals is the underlying of the Dallas tragedy."

This outpouring, he said, has come "from all strata of American life—from pulpits, press and the nation's highest court."

"This tortured introspection," Simpson said, "is alleged to reveal an obsession in America with hatred, lust and violence—emotions which hardly seem to fit a nation that has expressed such genuinely spontaneous grief and shock at the death of its president."

Awards Medals Of Freedom To Pope John, JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson on Friday wrestled with problems centering around the Atlantic alliance and military spending and awarded the Medal of Freedom to John F. Kennedy as a "pioneer for peace."

Johnson made another unannounced posthumous award of the medal, the nation's highest civilian honor for peacetime service. It went to the late Pope John XXIII.

COVERS NATO

Johnson covered the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a projected Allied nuclear force, and military spending in an hour-long conference with defense and state department advisers, including the two secretaries.

He also devoted a lot of time during the day to routine desk work, conferring with members of the White House staff.

Some of those honored were unable to attend. Two of the recipients had died since Kennedy selected them for the awards last July.

Others, with friends and officials looking on, crowded into the state dining room for the ceremony. They included persons such as singer Marian Anderson, French statesman Jean Monnet, Navajo Indian health worker Annie Waunaka, educator James B. Conant, and Felix

Russians Ask Red Chinese To Stop Bickering

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union appealed Friday to the Red Chinese to put an end to the public wrangling that has turned the Communist alliance sour.

The quarrel over Chinese and Soviet attitudes to communism's true path "has gone too far and in many instances has overstepped the standards of relations between fraternal parties," declared Pravda, the Communist party organ.

Pravda held out its olive branch with renewed proposals to halt open propaganda warfare and meet privately to prepare the ground for a world conference of Communist parties.

Terrorists Set Off Bomb In Venezuela

CARACAS (UPI) — Pro-Castro terrorists Friday bombed the front door of the Trinidad Embassy in Caracas and killed a policeman in new outbreaks of anti-government activity.

In Maracaibo, five armed men and a woman machine gunned and fire-bombed a warehouse of the U.S.-owned Pittsburgh Paint Co., causing $125,000 in damage. There were no casualties.

In another development, the government said it captured the man directly responsible for the kidnapping of U. S. Army Col. James K. Chenault when it seized Juan de Dios Moncada Thursday. He styled himself the supreme commander of the underground armed forces for national liberation.

The arrest of De Dios, a former Venezuelan army officer was announced Thursday coincident with Chenault's release by terrorists after eight days of captivity. But it was not until Friday that the government held him responsible for Chenault's kidnapping in a propaganda maneuver.

The government announcement also raised speculation De Dios' capture might have been due to information given to police by Chenault after the Sherman, Tex., officer's release.

The bombing attack on the Trinidad Embassy was the second terrorist assault there in a week. It was in retaliation for the action of the Trinidad government in returning to Caracas for trial the six young guerrillas who hijacked a Venezuelan commercial airliner last week and forced the pilot at gunpoint to fly them to near-by Port of Spain.

They would appreciate anything you could give them."

Top Interest In Governor, Local Races

By SAM HANNA
Political Editor

Ten Democratic candidates for governor today hope to do what four men have done in Louisiana in the last 35 years—win in the first primary in what should be a record election.

With 1,165,140 registered Democrats, the turn-out at the polls, opening at 6 a.m. and closing at 8 p.m., is expected to be the largest in the state's history.

ADDED ATTENTION

Besides heavy balloting, the election is receiving added attention since it is the first in the nation since President Kennedy's assassination.

For that reason the Democrats and Republicans are watching Louisiana to test the political effect of the President's death, according to the Associated Press.

With 10 candidates in the first primary, the winner is not anticipated until the January 11th second primary, although the odds of winning a Louisiana governor's race in the first primary are not bad.

Four men, dating back to 1928, have captured first primary victories in the last nine elections—Huey P. Long, 1928, O.K. Allen, 1932; Richard Leche, 1936; and Earl K. Long, 1956.

All belonged to the Long camp.

But since this is the first governor's race since Earl Long's death three years ago, a second primary is practically assured.

Reds To Open Berlin Barrier For Christmas

BERLIN (UPI) — The West German press office said Friday the East German Communists will open the Berlin wall at Christmas for the first time to permit West Berliners to visit friends and relatives in the Eastern sector of the divided city.

But as the Communists sparked bitter joy among West Berliners an almost simultaneous announcement reported that East German police Friday shot and killed another refugee seeking to flee to the West on the frontier near the western city of Luebeck.

The press office announcement was seen by West Berliners as promising possibly their merriest Christmas since the wall was erected Aug. 13, 1961. But it held out no immediate hope of travel for relatives and loved ones in the Communist part of the city—only West Berliners will be allowed to cross the 28-mile-long wall. The East Berliners remain caged.

West Germany attempted in vain to negotiate Christmas passage through the wall the past two years. Residents in both sectors of the city could only cluster in sight of each other and wave.

How are delegates to the Democratic National convention chosen in Louisiana? Are Republican delegates chosen in the same manner?

According to a local political figure and member of the Democratic State Central Committee, Democratic delegates are officially chosen by the State Central Committee, the governing body for the party in Louisiana. However, since the governor, in one-party Louisiana, is always the leader of the party, the committee takes his recommendations. Hence, the governor, for all practical purposes, selects the Democratic delegates.

The Republican Party in Louisiana selects its delegates through the State Central Committee. Since Louisiana has not had a Republican governor, the choice rests solely with the committee.

Is there a labor law to insure a person equal treatment on a job where there are incentive rates (as in piece work)? If there is such a law, who should an aggrieved worker contact to bring about its proper application?

According to Travis Thomas, president of the Ouachita Parish Central Trades and Labor Council, AFL-CIO:

"The question ... deals specifically with the labor statutes as such and not necessarily statutes which govern collective bargaining, etc. To my knowledge, there is no statute to govern this situation.

"In answer to the second part of the question — if the aggrieved worker has a legitimate grievance, then it should be submitted to his shop steward or officers of his union to be processed in accordance with the terms of the agreement under which he is employed. This is a negotiable item and is covered in the vast majority of the agreements in this industry."

When barbecuing, my son insists on keeping all the smoke inside the barbecue pie, making the meat black with smoke and hard. I do not think it is good to put all that black smoke in the stomach. Shouldn't it be cooked over hot coals slowly without all the smoke?

A food marketing specialist said the blackness is due to placing the meat over an exceedingly high temperature. For proper outdoor cooking, she said, the coals should have a gray ash on them, rather than a red glow. Otherwise, the meat will burn instead of cooking all the way through.

It was also advised that a covering over the meat probably would enrich the flavor. As to any effects smoke-blackened meat has on the digestive system, there was no comment. The specialist said this is the subject of current research.

The Isaac Delgado Museum of Art in New Orleans City Park houses various collections and art objects, including Italian Renaissance.

The Louisiana State Exhibits Building at the state fair grounds in Shreveport houses collections and objects of interest pertaining to Louisiana.

The Louisiana State Museum in New Orleans consists of the Cabildo, the Presbytere, the old state arsenal (museum of war), the Jackson House War annex, the Pontalba historic house, Madame John's Legacy, an ancient residence, and the St. Ann Street Pontalba building. Some art work is to be found here.

At Melrose plantation near Natchitoches, are also found works of art by a noted state and primitive painter. However, the plantation is open to the public only during the annual plantation tour.

HOLY LAND PILGRIMAGE

Pope Paul VI Sets Trip Date

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI set Jan. 4-6 for his Holy Land pilgrimage, which one prelate said includes plans for an historic meeting with Orthodox leaders. An Orthodox patriarch even suggested a summit meeting of all major Christian faiths while the pontiff is in Jerusalem.

A Vatican Press announcement Friday said the Pope would leave Rome Saturday, Jan. 4 and return Jan. 6. This would mean a journey by plane, the first air trip for a Pope, since Jerusalem is 1,500 miles away.

The Pope will celebrate at least two Masses in the Holy Land. One will be on Jan. 6, the Roman Catholic Feast of the Epiphany, commemorating the carrying of gifts by the three Wise Men to the infant Jesus in Bethlehem.

The schedule multiplied the problems of logistics and security for those charged with caring for the 66-year-old spiritual ruler of 550 million Catholics. It was assumed that he will cross the Israel-Jordan frontier, which is guarded by Israeli and Arab armies hostile to each other.

Sources at Vatican City said a three-day trip would give him time to meet with Orthodox leaders in Jerusalem. A Pope and an Orthodox patriarch have not met since the great schism of 1054.

What is the second tallest building in the United States?

The Chrysler Building, Lexington Avenue and 42nd Street in Manhattan, New York City. It is 77 stories high — 1,046 feet. It is second, incidentally to the Empire State Building in New York which is 102 stories high and with the television tower is 1,472 feet in the air.

Appeals Court Orders Voter Records Access

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A federal appeals court Friday ordered a Mississippi voter registrar to make records available for federal inspection without restriction.

The 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals decision is the latest in a series of legal actions that started in 1960 when the registrar in Bolivar County refused to open the books.

The appeal was from a U. S. district court decision that federal agents could examine the records—but only those relating to "listed voters" eligible for the 1960 elections.

The Department of Justice said the district judge erred in limiting inspection to a specific period and holding it to "listed voters." The appeals court agreed.

I understand that some of President Lincoln's papers which were turned over to the Library of Congress by his son, with the stipulation that they not be opened until a certain time, were opened four or five years ago, read and burned. Who makes the decisions to destroy such papers, and how many people saw them before their destruction? Was Carl Sandburg one of those who read these papers?

Our Washington bureau says that sources at the Library of Congress say they are unaware that any of Lincoln's papers have been burned recently. There is a legend that Robert Todd Lincoln burned some of the papers after his father's death but this has never been proved. Washington sources say these papers may have been some of his mother's.

Papers deposited with the Library of Congress by the son were opened in July, 1948, according to his instructions and are duly preserved. They contained little new information. Mr. Sandburg is not mentioned.

My husband and I have been married for several years and have children but we didn't sign our marriage license although the witnesses signed. We were married in Union Parish. Is our marriage legal?

Local legal authority says the marriage is legal since it was consummated before a duly constituted authority and duly witnessed. You can sign the license anytime you wish now and don't worry. All is legal.

According to your statement in a recent column (Mr. Editor, Tell Me Please, Sat., Nov. 9) a woman married to her first cousin wasn't entitled to social security benefits at his death since Louisiana law doesn't recognize marriages between first cousins.

What would happen to the property as far as children are concerned? Would they be eligible to inherit property at their parent's death?

Chapter 4, of the Civil Code of Louisiana, 1961 edition, Revision of 1870 with Amendments to 1960, Art. 117 says "The marriage, which has been declared null, produces nevertheless, its civil effects as it relates to the parties and their children, if it has been contracted in good faith."

Art. 118, Chapt. 4, of the same book further states, "If only one of the parties acted in good faith, the marriage produces its civil effects only in his or her favor, and in favor of the children born of the marriage."

Therefore, it would indicate that children born of such a marriage, even though the marriage is not recognized as legal, would be able to inherit property under the Civil Code of the state.

Medals Of Freedom Go To 26 Persons Plus Late Pope John, Mr. Kennedy

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-six living persons plus slain President John F. Kennedy and the late Pope John XXIII received the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian award for distinguished accomplishment in peacetime, on Friday.

Thirty-one were selected by Kennedy and their names were announced last July but the two posthumous awards were made Friday by President Johnson without advance notice. Two of those named in July have since died and three others were absent.

In the big state dining room of the White House, a crowd of 200 notables heard Johnson say:

"He led the land he loved toward new frontiers of opportunity for all men and peace for all time."

Not in the crowd but able to see and hear the ceremonies from a small adjoining dining room was Jacqueline Kennedy, widowed by an assassin's bullet just two weeks ago.

The doorway to the smaller room was shut off by a folding screen and few in the brilliant company of leaders in government, science, business and the arts realized until after the presentations that the former first lady was nearby.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy received the golden medal in behalf of his late brother.

No individual accepted the medal for the late Roman Catholic pontiff—probably the first Pope to be so highly honored by the United States. Of him Johnson said, "He brought to all citizens of the planet a heightened sense of the dignity of the individual, of the brotherhood of man and of the common duty to build an environment of peace for all mankind."

The medal is a gold star ringed by eagles and centered with a cluster of stars. Johnson read the citations while standing before a mantelpiece draped in mourning black as Angier Biddle Duke, State Department protocol chief, made the presentations.

Most of the men received their awards on a blue ribbon which Duke hung around their necks while the women's awards were pinned beneath a blue bow.

Eight of the men received an added distinction in the form of a blue shoulder sash on which was pinned a golden circlet marked by stars.

So honored were Ralph Bunche, undersecretary of the United Nations; Ellsworth Bunker, former diplomat and business executive; James B. Conant, scientist and former president of Harvard; former Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter; Robert A. Lovett, former secretary of defense; John J. McCloy, former adviser to presidents and currently a member of the commission investigating Kennedy's assassination; French statesman Jean Monnet and Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico.

Among those selected by Kennedy, J. Clifford MacDonald, a Tampa philanthropist, died some time ago and his award was accepted by his widow, Herbert H. Lehman, former governor and senator from New York, died of a heart attack Thursday while preparing to come to Washington.

E. B. White, author and editor, is ill and unable to attend, while another writer, Edmund Wilson, is in Europe. Pablo Casals, 86, Spanish-born cellist, also was absent.

The Medal of Freedom was originated 17 years ago as the highest honor a president can confer on a civilian. Its award was sporadic and only 24 persons had received it until this year.

About a year ago, Kennedy appointed a selection committee headed by Undersecretary of State George Ball and announced his intention to make the awards an annual affair honoring both Americans and foreigners for outstanding accomplishments in many fields.

Although the selection committee made the nominations, Kennedy made the final selections by adding to and subtracting from the list and all the selections were his except for his own and the Pope's.

The citation for Kennedy

read: "John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th president of the United States, soldier, scholar, statesman, defender of freedom, pioneer for peace, author of hope—combining courage with reason, and combatting hate with compassion, he led the land he loved toward new frontiers of opportunity for all men and peace for all time. He lived in a life of selfless service, mourned by all in a death of senseless crime. The energy, faith and devotion which he brought to his extraordinarily successful though tragically brief endeavors will hereafter light our country and all who serve it—and the glow from that fire can truly light the world." The quotation at the end of the citation is from Kennedy's inaugural address.

In his preliminary remarks, Johnson took note of the assassination of his predecessor by saying that 14 days ago "we countered in its full horror" man's capacity for evil and destruction.

But, he went on, the nation must turn once more to the "pursuit of honor and achievement." He said the award recipients remind Americans that "we are and shall continue to be a people touched with greatness, called by high destiny to serve great purposes."

Go To Polls—Early

The campaigning is over and now the voting begins. There is nothing more that can be said about the candidates for various state and local offices that would be of any value to voters. The World presents its recommendations in the adjoining column.

We urge every qualified voter to go to the polls. It is true that the ballot is long locally but it is not unmanageable. If voters will prepare a sample ballot or listing of their preferences before going to the polls, they will be able to vote quickly and intelligently. There is no reason for anyone to sit around in a voting machine booth for an almost interminable period of time, holding up others.

Above all, go to the polls as early as you can. There are many people — people tied up in their jobs all day — who will not be able to vote until darkness is coming. Get out of the way in the daylight hours and make room for them.

Midnight Welfare Raids

Constitutional rights of many honest, conscientious welfare recipients have been violated in a number of the nation's major cities by midnight raids on the homes of these people, if charges made by a Yale University professor are true. If such raids are being made in any city, there can be no doubt that they violate the right to privacy which is guaranteed to every citizen of the United States.

Professor Charles A. Reich says some states have enacted laws which permit midnight searches of the homes of welfare recipients without warrants but that such laws are unconstitutional under the fourth amendment and that they permit the raiders to violate the "due process" clause of the 14th amendment.

There can be no doubt that the rights of these people are being violated if night searches without warrants are being conducted. The theory is that the people on welfare won't dare object to the night intrusions because of fear that they will be cut off the rolls. Depriving people of their constitutional rights by putting them in fear of reprisals can surely be classed as an un-American procedure.

Insiders Newsletter, a New York analytical sheet, says United States citizens have become increasingly familiar with such raids since state officials around the country launched a vigorous crackdown on supposedly rampant chiseling.

The drive was given impetus last year when a partial check in Washington, D. C., reportedly disclosed that 57 per cent of the welfare families investigated were ineligible. However, a recent nationwide federal study found that 94.6 per cent of the cases met legal requirements for assistance.

Among things investigators hope to learn on their midnight raids is whether mothers are really living alone and how many children they are actually supporting. Investigators' demands for entry reportedly often carry expressed or implied threats that refusal will mean being cut off from assistance.

Welfare recipients usually lack the means and knowledge to defend their rights to privacy. Welfare implies dependence and dependence means people will be more easily induced to part with rights they would ordinarily defend.

This, of course, extends beyond the welfare recipients and includes those who accept socialism as a means of greater "security," for which they are willing to sacrifice their personal, individual rights.

While some violations of conditions under which welfare payments are justified may be revealed by the midnight raids, there is still the fact that many thousands of innocent homes would be raided. One may well imagine the feelings of a woman and her children if welfare workers bang on the doors at midnight and demand entry.

Some equally obnoxious cases occurred not many weeks ago when agents of the federal government knocked on the doors of newsmen late at night to demand sources of news stories the men had written. This was a double violation of rights, since newsmen have a right to protect their sources and since, if they must be questioned, they have a right to demand that such questioning be done during regular hours of business and at places other than their homes.

In many police-state countries, it has been customary to terrorize citizens by breaking into their homes and questioning them at night. The United States constitution guarantees that the privacy of the home cannot be invaded and that no search of the home can be conducted without the issuance of a warrant, based on a reasonable belief that there has been a violation of the law.

Even though they draw assistance from the federal government and state governments, welfare recipients should not be deprived of their constitutional rights.

Old-Fashioned Colds

Twenty, 40 or 60 years ago the old folks used to say there were two ways to handle a cold: treat it and you can cure it in 14 days; let it alone and it will go away in two weeks.

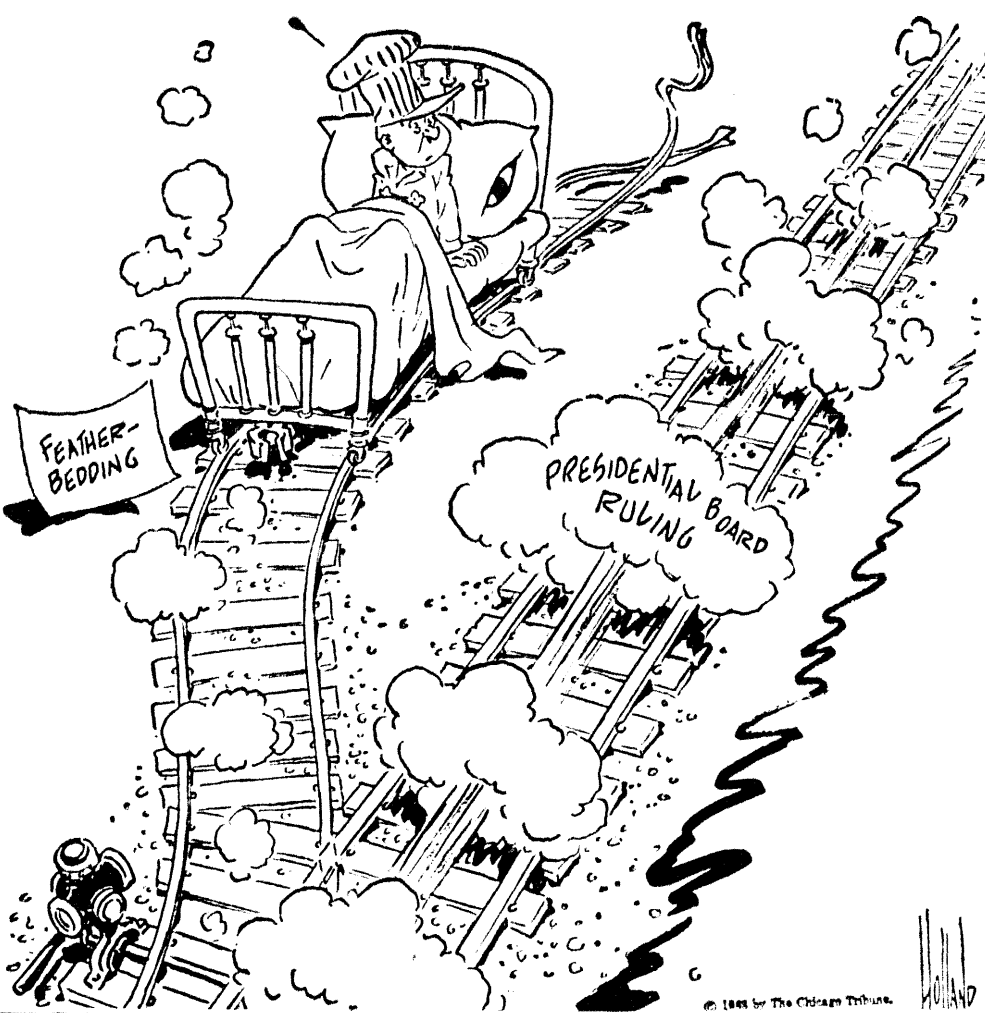

Now "the time element isn't that exact but the theory is the same." Those are the words of the American Medical Association in a news release. And it continues:

"Actually, grandma's home therapy is still good. If you get a cold, stay home in bed. Keep warm. Gargle to ease a sore throat. Take aspirin for discomfort. None of this will cure the cold but it will make you feel somewhat more comfortable while your body's natural defense mechanisms are building up enough steam to overcome the cold virus.

"There are medications available—in the area of antihistamines — that sometimes can make the symptoms of a cold much less severe and make it possible for us to keep going . . . If you get a cold, ask your doctor about the new medications that reduce coughing and sneezing."

State Department Officials Aided Oswald's Homecoming

WASHINGTON — Two high-ranking State Department officials were immediately responsible for clearing the way for the return to the U. S. of Lee Harvey Oswald and his Russian wife — despite the existence of a sworn affidavit by the assassin stating, "I affirm that my allegiance is to the Soviet Socialist Republic" and asking that his American citizenship be revoked.

These two officials are career diplomat Llewellyn Thompson, then-Ambassador to Moscow and now top Soviet adviser to Secretary Rusk, and Abram Chayes, chief legal officers of the State Department.

These ARE highlights of a number of significant facts uncovered by Representative Michael Feighan, D-Ohio, chairman of a House Judiciary Subcommittee that is closely examining the State Department's role in Oswald's checkered "Marxist" career. Feighan's findings will be submitted to the special commission named by President Johnson to report on the slaying of President Kennedy.

Another piece of striking information obtained by Feighan is that Oswald joined a paramilitary unit in Russia, apparently to improve his skill in rifle firing. This was brought to light by intelligence sources.

As ascertained by Feighan, Ambassador Thompson decided Oswald was eligible to return to the U. S. on the ground he had not formally renounced his citizenship.

This ruling was based on the fact that, although the ex-Marine had submitted a sworn affidavit affirming allegiance to the Soviet, the U. S. embassy in Moscow had not issued final papers acknowledging his renunciation of citizenship.

ON THIS technicality, Thompson held that Oswald had the right to go back to the U. S. Chayes sustained that decision. The State Department's legal officer also ruled that Oswald's wife could accompany him, waiving Section 212-A of the Immigration Act which bars the granting of visas to Communists. Mrs. Oswald had been a member of a Communist party organization which she claimed she had to join to get her laboratory job.

IN DIGGING into Oswald's clouded record, Representative Feighan plans to interrogate a number of State Department authorities.

In addition to Ambassador Thompson and legal officer Chayes, they include Abba Schwartz, head of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, and Miss Frances Knight, passport director. She is to be questioned particularly about the granting of a passport to the assassin after his return to the U. S. from Russia.

For months, Feighan has been quietly probing the State Department's apparent lax handling of immigration cases, especially involving individuals from Iron Curtain countries and Cuba. He recently issued a report disclosing that more than 300 aliens from the Soviet bloc and Latin America had been allowed to enter the U. S. as Cuban "refugees."

Illustrative of the significant evidence already uncovered by Feighan on Oswald's dealings with the U. S. embassy in Moscow are letters in the State Department's files.

There has been no public hint of this revealing correspondence. Following is a letter by Oswald dated January 5, 1962:

Bible Digest

H. B. DEAN
"And all that believed were together and had all things common." Acts 2:44
The mark of a good Christian is union with Christ and unity with his brethren. Christ said, "love one another as I have loved you."

"AS I have already informed the embassy, exit visas for myself and my wife have already been granted. I can have mine at any time, but it will be good for 45 days only. Since I and my wife wish to leave the USSR together, I shall delay requesting my visas until such time as documentation from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the USSR and the American embassy is completed on my wife.

"This letter is to inform the embassy of the expiring of my former document of residence in the USSR; and the granting of a new document, expiration date July 5, 1962. I would like to be sure we can leave as soon as all documents are finished. I would like to make arrangements for a loan from the embassy for part of the plane fares. Please look into this and notify me."

The embassy replied in a letter signed by Samuel Wise, counsel in Moscow, and approved by Thompson, suggesting that Oswald return to the U. S. alone as documents relating to his wife had not been approved by the State Department. The law required an affidavit from Oswald's mother that his wife would not become a public charge, and this declaration had not been forthcoming.

"Until these documentary requirements are satisfied," Wise wrote Oswald, "the embassy will not be able to take final action on your wife's visa application. In view of these circumstances, you may wish to reconsider your decision to defer your departure until Mrs. Oswald's documentation is complete, particularly inasmuch as it may prove difficult to provide the necessary financial support evidence while you are still in the USSR."

"Please inform us of your intentions in this matter. The question you raise of a loan to defray part of your travel expenses to the U. S. can be discussed when you came to the embassy."

Representative Feighan has run into a number of blank walls in his efforts to root out facts about Oswald's life in Russia. The Secret Service is still barring efforts to question Mrs. Oswald.

THE HOUSE investigator particularly wants to check on an intelligence report that the Soviet has a school for assassins near Minsk, where Oswald worked in a factory after his defection in 1959. He returned to the U. S. with his Russian wife in June 1962.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Coronary Disease Account Fills Book

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: Just what is meant by coronary disease? — Mr. Y.

Comment: The answer would fill a book. And that's what I've done; written one about coronary disease which will be out this fall. But there's always room for an immediate answer to such an important question (although necessarily incomplete), so here goes:

Coronary disease means trouble in one or both coronary arteries (or their branches) which supply the heart with nourishment. The underlying cause is a condition we call atherosclerosis.

This affects the walls and linings of these arteries, gradually or suddenly, and causes them to lose their normal elasticity; and fills them up with cholesterol and lime salts. This interferes with the amount of blood that can get through to supply the heart with oxygen.

Even the cause of atherosclerosis hasn't been proved definitely. But we know there are many factors to be considered: cholesterol, metabolism, heredity, exercise, smoking, alcohol, high blood pressure, diabetes, obesity, tension and others.

IN TWO FORMS

Now, coronary disease usually takes one of two main forms: angina pectoris or sudden coronary thrombosis. To make it simple, in angina there is a gradual filling up of the artery with a thrombus or clot; while in sudden coronary thrombosis, the artery suddenly cuts off the circulation to a vital part of the heart muscle. The typical symptoms of angina are: a constrictive pain across the chest and down one or both arms, usually coming on with exertion, extreme emotion or exertion after a heavy meal. These attacks of frightening chest discomfort may come on only a few times a week or as many as 110 to 20 times a day. Stopping for a few minutes while walking will usually terminate the attack, assisted by dissolving a nitroglycerine tablet under the tongue.

The typical attack of coronary thrombosis is more overwhelming. It may come on during exertion or while resting. There is a sudden, crushing pain which extends through the chest. Also nausea, vomiting, excessive, clammy perspiration, apprehension, sharp fall in blood pressure, rapid, irregular pulse.

You don't have to be a doctor to realize, looking upon such a patient, that here is one whose life is in danger.

MODERATION FIRST STEP

In a general way, between attacks, the treatment of angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis is the same. We advise the patient to cut down his activities, to reduce, to live in moderation and without excessive tension. Alcohol in small amounts may be all right. No smoking. Low fat and low cholesterol diet.

During the attack of coronary thrombosis itself, the doctor gives medicine to raise the blood pressure, morphine or other drugs to control the pain, and heparin and coumarin drugs to thin the blood.

The patient stays in bed for a few weeks, goes home to rest for a few more weeks. He does not return to work until at least three months have passed.

Some patients are allowed in a chair within days after the attack. Others must stay in bed for 4 to 8 weeks. Each is a personal problem. For example, some patients need to take blood-thinners for months and years, other, only during the first few weeks after the attack.

We are more optimistic about the outcome of coronary disease than we were years ago; nevertheless it remains a serious problem until we lick the cause and treatment of atherosclerosis. (Write to me in care of this paper for my leaflet, "Practical Pointers for Coronary Patients." Enclose 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Senator Soaper Says

Physical fitness is a desirable goal, but it must seem ironic to the department store Santa Claus who has exercised himself out of a job.

Another thing to do with the autumn leaves is use them tastefully arranged, as a table centerpiece. If, that is, you have a table that will hold about 15 bushels.

Price Of Beef Among Problems LBJ Faces

WASHINGTON — One of the major domestic problems facing President Lyndon B. Johnson, and one which could be a factor in next year's election, is the declining price of beef cattle coupled with increasing volumes of beef imports.

President Johnson, a "gentleman" cattle rancher himself who hails from one of the nation's biggest cattle raising areas, is obviously familiar with the problem.

In his new role as chief executive, however, his responsibilities transcend regional considerations and whether he will have any better luck coping with the complex issue than previous Administrations remains to be seen.

Tampering with imports is a touchy issue as the recent "chicken war" with the European common market demonstrated. In that case the situation was reversed in that the common market imposed trade barriers on U.S. frozen chickens but the issue has strained trade relations with six western European neighbors.

BEEF IMPORTS will continue to grow next year if U.S. department of Agriculture's appraisal of the meat industry is correct and the domestic price of beef will continue low.

This is bringing an increasing volume of protest on Capitol Hill for beef is the most widely produced agriculture commodity and the Administration is concerned on what effect it could have on its legislative program.

One of the big troubles is there isn't really much the Administration can do about beef imports. Having already pressed its case for more liberal world trade, as witnessed in its fight with the common market over chickens, it can't turn around and seek quotas on beef imports into the U.S. without seeming hypocritical.

Then there are those in the administration who argue it's not beef imports so much which have lowered domestic beef prices as the cattlemen themselves who have increased production too much. Also some Administration officials contend most of the beef bought in is of a low grade quality used for sausage meat and hamburger and has no substantial bearing on the price of U.S.-fed cattle.

CATTLEMEN, however, look at the import situation differently, countering that imports, even of the lowest grades, compete with the lower quality cuts from fed animals.

They also argue that the Administration's feed-grain programs have encouraged expanded cattle-feeding operations. These programs have resulted in a glut of feed grains which in turn has increased cattle production.

Replying to recent Administration contentions there has been an over-expansion of cattle raising, cattlemen argue the current production level would be justified by consumer demand and buying power, if imports had not been allowed to increase.

The Administration's best bet is voluntary restriction of beef exports to the U.S. by New Zealand and Australia. The threat of quotas under section 22 of the Agriculture adjustment act can't be used to induce voluntary export quotas by the two countries as in the case of dairy and cotton products because cattle prices in the U.S. are not price supported.

An upcoming meeting of the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs (GATT) in Geneva is due to review the world meat situation. U.S. members at the meeting will get a chance to express this country's problems and possibly reach an agreement for voluntary beef import cuts.

THERE IS some concern, however, about the scheduled GATT meeting because while its purpose is to negotiate new trade agreements, beef and veal are listed as articles GATT is seeking to reduce duties on or eliminate altogether.

Robert Kennedy Eyes Home State

There has been much speculation that Attorney General Robert Kennedy is already beginning to maneuver for the 1964 Vice Presidential nomination. This, it was assumed, made considerable sense if he plans to remain in politics. But two high Administration sources, talking frankly behind the cover of a "no attribution" pledge, see it differently.

This is their analysis: "Discount all talk of a Bob Kennedy Vice Presidential candidacy, they assert. The Attorney General has already said that it would be a dead-end for him. If the Democratic ticket must be 'balanced' by a Catholic, he suggests Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota or Governor Pat Brown of California."

The high Administration sources say that President Johnson can count on support from the Kennedy family without offering the Vice Presidency to young Bob. The Attorney General has already been assured that he will not be shunted aside after a decent period.

—HOWEVER, Mr. Kennedy realizes that he is no longer the second most powerful man in Washington. He knows too that it is imperative for him to re-establish a political base. Soundings are already being taken very quietly to test reaction in Massachusetts to his candidacy for governor in 1964. The Democratic incumbent, Governor Endicott Peabody, would have to be given some quid pro quo, but he is a close friend of the Kennedy family and would probably step down — though not happily.

The Kennedys are also looking to other states, other races. At a Kennedy family council, it was decided to re-examine the possibility of running brother-in-law Sargent Shriver for governor of Illinois. This again would require bumping an incumbent Democrat, but there seems to be no fear that he will refuse. The question being discussed is simply, "Can Shriver make it?" If he can, then he would be in a strong position to aid Bob Kennedy's Presidential candidacy in 1968.

NO PLANS are being made for Senator Edward Kennedy. The Kennedys themselves consider him a lightweight, and so do Massachusetts politicians. One of the Administration sources referred to him as a "bit feather" — headed in political understanding. There is also the question of the Harvard scandal which Massachusetts voters were ready to swallow but which would cause trouble should Ted Kennedy seek higher office. When he is offered as a speaker, he is more often than not turned down, with apologies. The strategy is to keep him in the Senate.

The big question: Would Massachusetts object to one Kennedy in the Senate and another in the Governor's mansion? The Kennedys have a hunch that the state would not object, at least at this time. Kennedy hunches are usually excellent, and this one includes a belief that in a few years it may be much more difficult to project Bob Kennedy. Therefore, it is vital that the new political base be established as quickly and as solidly as possible.

— With Robert Kennedy holding the Massachusetts governorship, he can immediately prepare for the 1968 Presidential election. He will have the prestige of elective office and the contacts with other delegation-controlling governors to help him swing the nomination.

THIS IS how two important Administration officials, both personally close to the Kennedy family, analyze the present situation and look into the future.

All this presupposes continuing support for the Attorney General from President Johnson. If he decides that this is a liability to him in his waning of the South, it can change. It also presupposes Mr. Johnson's election in 1964.

An outgoing President cannot always choose his successor. But he can very definitely torpedo any would-be candidate not to his liking. This is why Richard Nixon could never declare his independence of President Eisenhower, even though his delegate strength was sufficient to win him the nomination.

The situation will be increasingly fluid as the country begins to find out more about President Johnson, what he stands for, and how he intends to get it. The evaluations offered here will change frequently in the months to come. What makes them interesting is the evidence they present that the Kennedys intend to remain in politics—and at the highest level.

JERSEY CITY, N.J. ## Go To Polls—Early

The campaigning is over and now the voting begins. There is nothing more that can be said about the candidates for various state and local offices that would be of any value to voters. The World presents its recommendations in the adjoining column.

We urge every qualified voter to go to the polls. It is true that the ballot is long locally but it is not unmanageable. If voters will prepare a sample ballot or listing of their preferences before going to the polls, they will be able to vote quickly and intelligently. There is no reason for anyone to sit around in a voting machine booth for an almost interminable period of time, holding up others.

Above all, go to the polls as early as you can. There are many people — people tied up in their jobs all day — who will not be able to vote until darkness is coming. Get out of the way in the daylight hours and make room for them.

Midnight Welfare Raids

Constitutional rights of many honest, conscientious welfare recipients have been violated in a number of the nation's major cities by midnight raids on the homes of these people, if charges made by a Yale University professor are true. If such raids are being made in any city, there can be no doubt that they violate the right to privacy which is guaranteed to every citizen of the United States.

Professor Charles A. Reich says some states have enacted laws which permit midnight searches of the homes of welfare recipients without warrants but that such laws are unconstitutional under the fourth amendment and that they permit the raiders to violate the "due process" clause of the 14th amendment.

There can be no doubt that the rights of these people are being violated if night searches without warrants are being conducted. The theory is that the people on welfare won't dare object to the night intrusions because of fear that they will be cut off the rolls. Depriving people of their constitutional rights by putting them in fear of reprisals can surely be classed as an un-American procedure.

Insiders Newsletter, a New York analytical sheet, says United States citizens have become increasingly familiar with such raids since state officials around the country launched a vigorous crackdown on supposedly rampant chiseling.

The drive was given impetus last year when a partial check in Washington, D. C., reportedly disclosed that 57 per cent of the welfare families investigated were ineligible. However, a recent nationwide federal study found that 94.6 per cent of the cases met legal requirements for assistance.

Among things investigators hope to learn on their midnight raids is whether mothers are really living alone and how many children they are actually supporting. Investigators' demands for entry reportedly often carry expressed or implied threats that refusal will mean being cut off from assistance.

Welfare recipients usually lack the means and knowledge to defend their rights to privacy. Welfare implies dependence and dependence means people will be more easily induced to part with rights they would ordinarily defend.

This, of course, extends beyond the welfare recipients and includes those who accept socialism as a means of greater "security," for which they are willing to sacrifice their personal, individual rights.

While some violations of conditions under which welfare payments are justified may be revealed by the midnight raids, there is still the fact that many thousands of innocent homes would be raided. One may well imagine the feelings of a woman and her children if welfare workers bang on the doors at midnight and demand entry.

Some equally obnoxious cases occurred not many weeks ago when agents of the federal government knocked on the doors of newsmen late at night to demand sources of news stories the men had written. This was a double violation of rights, since newsmen have a right to protect their sources and since, if they must be questioned, they have a right to demand that such questioning be done during regular hours of business and at places other than their homes.

In many police-state countries, it has been customary to terrorize citizens by breaking into their homes and questioning them at night. The United States constitution guarantees that the privacy of the home cannot be invaded and that no search of the home can be conducted without the issuance of a warrant, based on a reasonable belief that there has been a violation of the law.

Even though they draw assistance from the federal government and state governments, welfare recipients should not be deprived of their constitutional rights.

Old-Fashioned Colds

Twenty, 40 or 60 years ago the old folks used to say there were two ways to handle a cold: treat it and you can cure it in 14 days; let it alone and it will go away in two weeks.

Now "the time element isn't that exact but the theory is the same." Those are the words of the American Medical Association in a news release. And it continues:

"Actually, grandma's home therapy is still good. If you get a cold, stay home in bed. Keep warm. Gargle to ease a sore throat. Take aspirin for discomfort. None of this will cure the cold but it will make you feel somewhat more comfortable while your body's natural defense mechanisms are building up enough steam to overcome the cold virus.

"There are medications available—in the area of antihistamines — that sometimes can make the symptoms of a cold much less severe and make it possible for us to keep going . . . If you get a cold, ask your doctor about the new medications that reduce coughing and sneezing."

State Department Officials Aided Oswald's Homecoming

WASHINGTON — Two high-ranking State Department officials were immediately responsible for clearing the way for the return to the U. S. of Lee Harvey Oswald and his Russian wife — despite the existence of a sworn affidavit by the assassin stating, "I affirm that my allegiance is to the Soviet Socialist Republic" and asking that his American citizenship be revoked.

These two officials are career diplomat Llewellyn Thompson, then-Ambassador to Moscow and now top Soviet adviser to Secretary Rusk, and Abram Chayes, chief legal officers of the State Department.

THESE ARE highlights of a number of significant facts uncovered by Representative Michael Feighan, D-Ohio, chairman of a House Judiciary Subcommittee that is closely examining the State Department's role in Oswald's "checkered" "Marxist" career. Feighan's findings will be submitted to the special commission named by President Johnson to report on the slaying of President Kennedy.

Another piece of striking information obtained by Feighan is that Oswald joined a paramilitary unit in Russia, apparently to improve his skill in rifle firing. This was brought to light by intelligence sources. As ascertained by Feighan, Ambassador Thompson decided Oswald was eligible to return to the U. S. on the ground he had not formally renounced his citizenship.

This ruling was based on the fact that, although the ex-Marine had submitted a sworn affidavit affirming allegiance to the Soviet, the U. S. embassy in Moscow had not issued final papers acknowledging his renunciation of citizenship.

ON THIS technicality, Thompson held that Oswald had the right to go back to the U. S. Chayes sustained that decision. The State Department's legal officer also ruled that Oswald's wife could accompany him, waiving Section 212-A of the Immigration Act which bars the granting of visas to Communists. Mr. Oswald had been a member of a Communist party organization which she claimed she had to join to get her laboratory job.

IN DIGGING into Oswald's clouded record, Representative Feighan plans to interrogate a number of State Department authorities.

In addition to Ambassador Thompson and legal officer Chayes, they include Abba Schwartz, head of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, and Miss Frances Knight, passport director. She is to be questioned particularly about the granting of a passport to the assassin after his return to the U. S. from Russia.

For months, Feighan has been quietly probing the State Department's apparent lax handling of immigration cases, especially involving individuals from Iron Curtain countries and Cuba. He recently issued a report disclosing that more than 300 aliens from the Soviet bloc and Latin America had been allowed to enter the U. S. as Cuban "refugees."

Illustrative of the significant evidence already uncovered by Feighan on Oswald's dealings with the U. S. embassy in Moscow are letters in the State Department's files.

There has been no public hint of this revealing correspondence. Following is a letter by Oswald dated January 5, 1962:

Bible Digest

H. B. DEAN
"And all that believed were together and had all things common." Acts 2:44
The mark of a good Christian is union with Christ and unity with his brethren. Christ said, "love one another as I have loved you."

"AS I have already informed the embassy, exit visas for myself and my wife have already been granted. I can have mine at any time, but it will be good for 45 days only. Since I and my wife wish to leave the USSR together, I shall delay requesting my visas until such time as documentation from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the USSR and the American embassy is completed on my wife.

"This letter is to inform the embassy of the expiring of my former document of residence in the USSR: and the granting of a new document, expiration date July 5, 1962. I would like to be sure we can leave as soon as all documents are finished. I would like to make arrangements for a loan from the embassy for part of the plane fares. Please look into this and notify me."

The embassy replied in a letter signed by Samuel Wise, counsel in Moscow, and approved by Thompson, suggesting that Oswald return to the U. S. alone as documents relating to his wife had not been approved by the State Department. The law required an affidavit from Oswald's mother that his wife would not become a public charge, and this declaration had not been forthcoming.

"Until these documentary requirements are satisfied," Wise wrote Oswald, "the embassy will not be able to take final action on your wife's visa application. In view of these circumstances, you may wish to reconsider your decision to defer your departure until Mrs. Oswald's documentation is complete, particularly inasmuch as it may prove difficult to provide the necessary financial support evidence while you are still in the USSR.

"Please inform us of your intentions in this matter. The question you raise of a loan to defray part of your travel expenses to the U. S. can be discussed when you came to the embassy."

Representative Feighan has run into a number of blank walls in his efforts to root out facts about Oswald's life in Russia. The Secret Service is still barring efforts to question Mrs. Oswald.

THE HOUSE investigator particularly wants to check on an Intelligence report that the Soviet has a school for assassins near Minsk, where Oswald worked in a factory after his defection in 1959. He returned to the U. S. with his Russian wife in June 1962.

Coronary Disease Account Fills Book

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: Just what is meant by coronary disease? — Mr. Y.

Comment: The answer would fill a book. And that's what I've done: written one about coronary disease which will be out this fall. But there's always room for an immediate answer to such an important question (although necessarily incomplete), so here goes:

Coronary disease means trouble in one or both coronary arteries (or their branches) which supply the heart with nourishment. The underlying cause is a condition we call atherosclerosis.

This affects the walls and linings of these arteries, gradually or suddenly, and causes them to lose their normal elasticity; and fills them up with cholesterol and lime salts. This interferes with the amount of blood that can get through to supply the heart with oxygen.

Even the cause of atherosclerosis hasn't been proved definitely. But we know there are many factors to be considered: cholesterol, metabolism, heredity, exercise, smoking, alcohol, high blood pressure, diabetes, obesity, tension and others.

IN TWO FORMS

Now, coronary disease usually takes one of two main forms: angina pectoris or sudden coronary thrombosis. To make it simple, in angina there is a gradual filling up of the artery with a thrombus or clot; while clot forms suddenly to cut off the circulation to a vital part of the heart muscle. The typical symptoms of angina are: a constrictive pain across the chest and down one or both arms, usually coming on with exertion, extreme emotion or exertion after a heavy meal. These attacks of frightening chest discomfort may come on only a few times a week or as many as 11 to 20 times a day. Stopping for a few minutes while walking will usually terminate the attack, assisted by dissolving a nitroglycerine tablet under the tongue.

The typical attack of coronary thrombosis is more overwhelming. It may come on during exertion or while resting. There is a sudden, crushing pain which extends through the chest. Also nausea, vomiting, excessive clammy perspiration, apprehension, sharp fall in blood pressure, rapid, irregular pulse.

You don't have to be a doctor to realize, looking upon such a patient, that here is one whose life is in danger.

MODERATION FIRST STEP

In a general way, between attacks, the treatment of angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis is the same. We advise the patient to cut down his activities, to reduce, to live in moderation and without excessive tension. Alcohol in small amounts may be all right. No smoking. Low fat and low cholesterol diet.

During the attack of coronary thrombosis itself, the doctor gives medicine to raise the blood pressure, morphine or other drugs to control the pain, and heparin and coumarin drugs to thin the blood.

The patient stays in bed for a few weeks, goes home to rest for a few more weeks. He does not return to work until at least three months have passed.

Some patients are allowed in a chair within days after the attack. Others must stay in bed for 4 to 8 weeks. Each is a personal problem. For example, some patients need to take blood-thinners for months and years, other, only during the first few weeks after the attack.

We are more optimistic about the outcome of coronary disease than we were years ago; nevertheless it remains a serious problem until we lick the cause and treatment of atherosclerosis. (Write to me in care of this paper for my leaflet, "Practical Pointers for Coronary Patients." Enclose 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Senator Soaper Says

Physical fitness is a desirable goal, but it must seem ironic to the department store Santa Claus who has exercised himself out of a job.

Another thing to do with the autumn leaves is use them tastefully arranged, as a table centerpiece. If, that is, you have a table that will hold about 15 bushels.

Price Of Beef Among Problems LBJ Faces

WASHINGTON — One of the major domestic problems facing President Lyndon B. Johnson, and one which could be a factor in next year's election, is the declining price of beef cattle coupled with increasing volumes of beef imports.

President Johnson, a "gentleman" cattle rancher himself who hails from one of the nation's biggest cattle raising areas, is obviously familiar with the problem.

In his new role as chief executive, however, his responsibilities transcend regional considerations and whether he will have any better luck coping with the complex issue than previous Administrations remains to be seen.

Tampering with imports is a touchy issue as the recent "chicken war" with the European common market demonstrated. In that case the situation was reversed in that the common market imposed trade barriers on U.S. frozen chickens but the issue has strained trade relations with six western European neighbors.

BEEF IMPORTS will continue to grow next year if U.S. Department of Agriculture's appraisal of the meat industry is correct and the domestic price of beef will continue low.

This is bringing an increasing volume of protest on Capitol Hill for beef is the most widely produced agriculture commodity and the Administration is concerned on what effect it could have on its legislative program.

One of the big troubles is there isn't really much the Administration can do about beef imports. Having already pressed its case for more liberal world trade, as witnessed in its fight with the common market over chickens, it can't turn around and seek quotas on beef imports into the U.S. without seeming hypocritical.

Then there are those in the administration who argue it's not beef imports so much which have lowered domestic beef prices as the cattlemen themselves who have increased production too much.

Also some Administration officials contend most of the beef bought in is of a low grade quality used for sausage, meat and hamburger and has no substantial bearing on the price of U.S.-fed cattle.

CATTLEMEN, however, look at the import situation differently, countering that imports, even of the lowest grades, compete with the lower quality cuts from fed animals.

They also argue that the Administration's feed-grain programs have encouraged expanded cattle - feeding operations. These programs have resulted in a glut of feed grains which in turn has increased cattle production.

Replying to recent Administration contentions there has been an over-expansion of cattle raising, cattlemen argue the current production level would be justified by consumer demand and buying power, if imports had not been allowed to increase.

The Administration's best bet is voluntary restriction of beef exports to the U.S. by New Zealand and Australia. The threat of quotas under section 22 of the Agriculture adjustment act can't be used to induce voluntary export quotas by the two countries as in the case of dairy and cotton products because cattle prices in the U.S. are not price supported.

DEMO CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Free Electors Bout Enters Arena Today

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A political battle over free presidential electors will be fought Saturday when voters choose the 105-member Democratic State Central Committee.

Among the 344 committee candidates are scores of free electors supporters, many others who are opposed, and 19 Negroes.

Backers of the free electors claim 126 candidates are pledged to their cause.

Contests will be held in all 17 Orleans Parish wards and in 42 other parishes. There are 41 incumbents seeking re-election.

Nineteen persons have been nominated without opposition. Rep. John Garrett, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation and a free electors leader, won the Claiborne Parish seat without opposition.

Usually, those candidates who received the most votes in the first primary have been declared winners in earlier years. But for the first time a runoff will be held for central committee seats where several are running.

Negro candidate Percy Murphy Griffin of Phoenix, is attempting to unseat perhaps the foremost segregation leader in Louisiana, Leander H. Perez Sr., in Plaquemine Parish.

Perez shoved a resolution through the Central Committee to open the way for so-called free or independent electors in a drive against the civil rights cause led by President Kennedy. State Sen. Harold Montgomery of Doyline, who led an unsuccessful fight in the 1963 legislature for a free electors bill, said a few days ago, "the tragic death of President Kennedy will have no bearing on the free electors movement."

Montgomery is chairman of the Louisiana free electors. In racially disturbed Iberville Parish, Andrew P. Gay is opposed by Negro William W. Harleaux, integration leader and elementary school principal who has been arrested several times in civil rights demonstrations.

Eight Negroes are among the candidates seeking committee seats in Orleans Parish. Negroes also are running in Beauregard, Caddo, Acadia, Allen, Avoyelles and St. Helena parishes.

LEAVES WHITE HOUSE

Jacqueline Moves To New Address

By ELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children moved out of the White House Friday, leaving behind only echoes of the life, laughter and love they brought to it nearly three years ago.

Speaking for the nation, the new first lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, paid tribute to the 34-year-old widow for something else she left behind, "a shining gift of beauty."

The Johnsons will move into the White House this weekend. The late President's wife, daughter Caroline and son John Jr. arrived at their new, temporary home in Georgetown at 1:25 p.m. EST. John was waving an American flag as they entered the red brick, Georgian-style town house loaned them by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

Three blocks down the street is the house the Kennedys left in January, 1961, to enter the White House. Mrs. Kennedy returned to Georgetown Friday exactly two weeks after her husband was assassinated.

Her last day in the Executive Mansion was one of simple, last-minute tasks and yet another high tribute to the memory of her husband.

Mrs. Kennedy watched silently from behind a screen in the black-drape state dining room as President Johnson, in a surprise gesture, awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom posthumously to her husband. Johnson told a crowd of notables that Kennedy "led the land he loved toward new frontiers of opportunity for all men and peace for all time."

While Caroline, 6, attended first-grade classes as usual on the third floor, Mrs. Kennedy expressed her "deep appreciation" to the White House staff for their faithfulness in three years.

Mayors Say Boat Docks Are Needed

Construction of boat docks and warehouses on the Ouachita River was termed a necessity by both Twin City mayors in connection with the completion of the proposed nine-foot channel. Freight shipping will be greatly increased when this project is finished, explained Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard and West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris Thursday.

"This is a tremendous undertaking which would effect more than just the cities of Monroe and West Monroe," Howard said. "In my opinion this affects the entire parish."

Neither city government has any plans for such construction at present.

Norris pointed out that the state has authority to create a port commission here. "A commission was appointed about 10 or 12 years ago, but I do not think anything was done about docks and facilities," Norris said.

According to member M. W. Montgomery, the Ouachita Parish Police Jury has not discussed the issue.

George Wylie, member of the West Monroe City Council, said that state engineers had surveyed city-owned river property behind the old city hall. The 248-foot stretch was not ruled insufficient, but was termed too small for a public boat dock.

Both mayors stressed the need for a survey to determine the extent of need for such a dock and warehouse and the best location for the facility.

Free Electors Bout Enters Arena Today

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A political battle over free presidential electors will be fought Saturday when voters choose the 105-member Democratic State Central Committee.

Among the 344 committee candidates are scores of free electors supporters, many others who are opposed, and 19 Negroes.

Backers of the free electors claim 126 candidates are pledged to their cause.

Contests will be held in all 17 Orleans Parish wards and in 43 other parishes. There are 41 incumbents seeking re-election.

Nineteen persons have been nominated without opposition.

Rep. John Garrett, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Segregation and a free electors leader, won the Claiborne Parish seat without opposition.

Usually, those candidates who received the most votes in the first primary have been declared winners in earlier years. But for the first time a runoff will be held for central committee seats where several are running.

Negro candidate Percy Murphy Griffin of Phoenix, is attempting to unseat perhaps the foremost segregation leader in Louisiana, Leander H. Perez Sr., in Plaquemines Parish.

Perez shoved a resolution through the Central Committee to open the way for so-called free or independent electors in a drive against the civil rights cause led by President Kennedy.

State Sen. Harold Montgomery of Doyline, who led an unsuccessful fight in the 1963 legislature for a free electors bill, said a few days ago, "the tragic death of President Kennedy will have no bearing on the free electors movement..."

Montgomery is chairman of the Louisiana free electors.

In racially disturbed Iberville Parish, Andrew P. Gay is opposed by Negro William W. Harleaux, integration leader and elementary school principal who has been arrested several times in civil rights demonstrations.

Eight Negroes are among the candidates seeking committee seats in Orleans Parish. Negroes also are running in Beauregard, Caddo, Acadia, Allen, Avoyelles and St. Helena parishes.

LONDON (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan plans to write his memoirs and publish them himself, it was reported Friday.

Top Hoffa Aides Quit To Protest Remarks On JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—James R. Hoffa's top assistant and four other aides to the Teamster president have resigned in protest against actions and statements by Hoffa following President Kennedy's assassination, it was learned Friday.

Informed sources said Harold J. Gibbons turned in his resignation Thursday night as executive assistant to the president. Four other Hoffa aides followed suit.

It was reported that Gibbons issued a statement of condolence in behalf of the Teamsters without first clearing it with Hoffa.

When Hoffa learned of the statement, he ordered it withdrawn and issued a substitute in which he said the President's death made Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy "just another lawyer."

It was understood that Hoffa also was angered because Gibbons ordered Teamster headquarters in Washington, closed Nov. 25, the day of mourning for the President, and ordered the flag flown at half staff.

The traditional affair, under sponsorship of the Student Government Association, will give youngsters ranging from three to twelve years of age should be made in Stubbs Hall 207. Only ten children are left for adoption.

Couples who have not "adopted" children will have until noon today to apply for a boy or girl. Applications for youngsters ranging from three to twelve years of age should be made in Stubbs Hall 207. Only ten children are left for adoption.

Activities for the day will begin at 4 p.m. when foster parents will meet their children as busses reach the College Union Building. The following hour will be spent in parents and children becoming acquainted during their visit around the campus.

A special dinner in Gunby Dining Hall will be served between 5 and 6 p.m., then the parents and children will go to the main lounge of the College Union for an exciting Christmas party.

Merchants Gets Real Evidence Of Yule Spirit

A West Monroe hardware merchant has first-hand evidence that the Christmas spirit still exists. He received a letter from a former employee who admitted taking merchandise while he worked at the store and enclosed money to make restitution.

The letter, from a person now attending a denominational college, said he realized he had done wrong and that he had to confess to clear his conscience.

"I offer payment to you and ask your forgiveness. I want nothing to stand between me and God," the letter said. Taken from the store, according to the letter, were some fishing baits and a pocket knife.

PARENTS SEND CHECK

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The parents of a state trooper killed in the line of duty have sent a $100 check to Mrs. J.D. Tippet, widow of the Dallas policeman slain by the alleged assassin of President Kennedy.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lambert of Wilton, lost their son when he was struck and killed by a drunken driver in Bethel three years ago.

West German Rocket Firm Denied License

BONN, Germany (AP)—The government announced Friday night it will deny export licenses to a new West German firm which wants to sell military rockets abroad, particularly in the developing countries.

The government statement said no permits have been issued for manufacturing, purchase or sale of rockets by the Hamburg Weapons & Aviation Armament Corp., which made public an ambitious arms export program earlier this week.

The statement recalled that Bonn had renounced production of military rockets when it became a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization under the 1954 Paris treaties. This, the statement said, excepted only anti-aircraft missiles and other weapons expressly approved in the defense treaties.

The government also revealed that an investigation is under way against the Hamburg corporation to find out whether it violated a pledge only to display research rockets at a firing test on the North Sea coast Thursday.

Research rockets for meteorological and other scientific purposes did not require an official permit, the government explained.

The four solid-fuel rockets fired at the Cuxhaven test range Thursday had been described by company officials as of the research type. They made clear however that these could easily be adapted to military purposes.

Military attaches from Jordan and Saudi Arabia were among interested observers of the test firing. Company officials said after the demonstration they received orders running into "millions of marks."

The corporation, with a capital stock of $37,500, was set up by 40-odd small German firms from various industrial branches as a joint sales organization.

West German Rocket Firm Denied License

BONN, Germany (AP)—The government announced Friday night it will deny export licenses to a new West German firm which wants to sell military rockets abroad, particularly in the developing countries.

The government statement said no permits have been issued for manufacturing, purchase or sale of rockets by the Hamburg Weapons & Aviation Armament Corp., which made public an ambitious arms export program earlier this week.

The statement recalled that Bonn had renounced production of military rockets when it became a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization under the 1954 Paris treaties. This, the statement said, excepted only anti-aircraft missiles and other weapons expressly approved in the defense treaties.

The government also revealed that an investigation is under way against the Hamburg corporation to find out whether it violated a pledge only to display research rockets at a firing test on the North Sea coast Thursday.

Research rockets for meteorological and other scientific purposes did not require an official permit, the government explained.

The four solid-fuel rockets fired at the Cuxhaven test range Thursday had been described by company officials as of the research type. They made clear however that these could easily be adapted to military purposes.

Military attaches from Jordan and Saudi Arabia were among interested observers of the test firing. Company officials said after the demonstration they received orders running into "millions of marks."

The corporation, with a capital stock of $37,500, was set up by 40-odd small German firms from various industrial branches as a joint sales organization.

Merchants Gets Real Evidence Of Yule Spirit

A West Monroe hardware merchant has first-hand evidence that the Christmas spirit still exists. He received a letter from a former employee who admitted to taking merchandise while he worked at the store and enclosed money to make restitution.

The letter, from a person now attending a denominational college, said he realized he had done wrong and that he had to confess to clear his conscience.

"I offer payment to you and ask your forgiveness. I want nothing to stand between me and God," the letter said.

Taken from the store, according to the letter, were some fishing baits and a pocket knife.

PARENTS SEND CHECK

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The parents of a state trooper killed in the line of duty have sent a $100 check to Mrs. J.D. Tippit, widow of the Dallas policeman slain by the alleged assassin of President Kennedy.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lambert of Wilton, lost their son when he was struck and killed by a drunken driver in Bethel three years ago.

Michot

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Speaking to a New Orleans audience Friday night, gubernatorial candidate Louis J. Michot, Jr. called Saturday a day of decision for Louisiana.

The Lafayette representative said, "Saturday will see the people rebelling against desperate, irresponsible politicians against wealthy grafters against the squandering of their tax dollars."

Michot continued, "the greatest political turn-about in Louisiana's history is at hand. The people are tired, disgusted, fed up. They want responsible, sound, sane government. They want their tax money put where it belongs — in fine schools, black-topped roads, parks, recreational areas, programs to provide more jobs and higher wages. They want a government of honest, dedicated, sincere men."

Morrison

AVONDALE (Special) — Speaking to shipyard workers here Friday, gubernatorial candidate Delcress S. Morrison urged voters to bear in mind that "the eyes of the nation and the hemisphere will focus on Louisiana Saturday."

Not only the nation but the hemisphere as well, because of Louisiana's strategic location for import-export traffic between this country and Latin America, will be keeping a close watch on the election, Morrison said.

"The big question is will the voters of this grand old state redeem themselves at the polls and close the door on a sorry past of scandals and government monkeyshines and open the door to a greater future which can be ours," he added.

"From the very outset we've said from the stump in the press and over radio and television that it is up to you," Morrison said, "and it really is up to you."

He said it is up to the voters to "look behind all the noise the flailing of arms the charges and countercharges and the pie in the sky promises and make a sound courageous forthright decision for your benefit."

McKeithen

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Gubernatorial Candidate John McKeithen spoke to supporters here Friday prior to returning to home in Columbia where he will vote in Saturday's election.

McKeithen said, "What happens in Louisiana tomorrow is bigger than any single man. Far greater than any mere ambition. We answer the question posed of us by the very heavens: Will we make use of those blessings which God has showered upon this state or will we go on for another four years, trapped in a mire of selfishness and favoritism?"

"Today we must decide if at long last we are ready to take our rightful place at the head of our states in providing a good life for our citizens. We must decide if our decision will enable our citizens to hold their heads high with pride. Today we will make our way forward or watch the world go by for another four years."

McKeithen continued, "We are grateful that we have conducted our campaign with honor, with truth and with dignity. We are proud that the people of this state have recognized this and have placed us in the second primary according to all polls."

"Our victory will be a victory for all citizens, men and women from all walks of life. We did not have the support of the million dollar mansion and the powerful. The state administration has fought us and what we stand for every inch of the way. It is the people who have rallied to our cause, to the cause of decent, honest and dignified state government."

Kirkpatrick

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Claude Kirkpatrick, independent candidate for governor, speaking in Baton Rouge asked voters not to "play politics" in this election.

Kirkpatrick said, "no one knows who will win this election. I urge you to vote for the man you think is best qualified and not to try to pick a winner. I urge all voters to vote their conscience."

"I have received many letters, telegrams and phone calls from all over the state, pledging their support and thanking me for the clean campaign which I have waged. I am convinced that the only way that we can improve the image of our great state is for the leaders to stress the good points and to work hard to clean up the bad."

Kennon

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — Robert F. Kennon Friday closed his first primary campaign for Louisiana's governorship on a note of confidence and assurance to the voters that he had campaigned on issues that he considered important in the future of Louisiana.

"We have presented the issues clearly and firmly with dignity and without slander," Kennon said. "In our proposed All Louisiana program we have given a positive approach to solving Louisiana problems of government offering a plan for the future of our state."

Kennon said he was satisfied with the response to his campaign. "I am confident of victory. The response has been overwhelming in every district. Especially in the French country we have recognized an enthusiastic swing to the Kennon-Dugas ticket."

"Francis Dugas, our candidate for lieutenant governor, has spent the last 48 hours in the French speaking area of our state and acceptance that gives reason to expect a tremendous vote."

"The independent voters of north central and south Louisiana know that our ticket is the leading contender and the only real independent ticket that can win. Instead of waiting to support us in a second primary thousands of those who were on the fence are now giving us their

Jackson

BATON ROUGE (Special) — In a final campaign statement Friday Shelby M. Jackson said that he is "confident that the voters will elect me governor of Louisiana or place me in the run-off."

"I am equally confident" the candidate said "that if there is a run-off I will be the winner." Jackson who has been state superintendent of public education for 15 years would not speculate as to which other candidate might be in the run-off.

"The bitterness and the harsh accusations which have exploded during the closing days of this campaign have undoubtedly had some effect on some candidates," Jackson said. "However these recriminations have had no effect on my candidacy since I have not engaged in this type of campaigning."

Castro Ousts Cabinet Member After Criticism

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro Friday fired a cabinet member whose work he had criticized.

The ousted official was Transport Minister Capt. Omar Fernandez. He was ordered to go back to work with Industries Minister Ernesto (Che) Guevara, the same job from which he had been promoted.

Castro in a speech Nov. 27 attacked Fernandez' ministry for not halting smuggling of contraband goods by Cuban merchant seamen and for discourteous treatment of the public by bus drivers and conductors.

Maj. Faure Chomon, an old University of Havana chum of Castro's, was named to succeed Fernandez. Chomon, Cuba's first ambassador to the Soviet Union, has been communications minister.

U.S. Jobless Ranks Rise Past Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 500,000 additional jobless Americans swelled the nation's unemployed to nearly 4 million last month, the Department of Labor reported Thursday.

But a spokesman for the Bureau of Labor Statistics said other economic barometers indicated the increase was not particularly worrisome.

"Normally I would say this increase in unemployment is significant," the spokesman said.

But the absence of a corresponding increase in unemployment payments and a generally optimistic business climate appeared to offset some of the increase, he said.

Total employment dipped from 69.9 million to 69.3 million from the previous month because of an expected seasonal reduction in farm jobs, he said. Non-farm employment remained at 64.5 million as expected. A small fluctuation in the work force made the net gain in joblessness 500,000.

Describing the over-all employment situation as reasonably strong, the spokesman said the number of persons with jobs in the 11 months of this year was up an average of about

Six Are Injured In Twin Cities Area Accidents

Six persons were injured in four separate accidents in the Twin Cities and parish late Friday.

Monroe police reported three of the injuries resulted from two accidents in the city. Fifteen-year-old Walter C. Dunn Jr., of 2215 Beachwood Dr., sustained a severely lacerated lip when the car in which he rode crashed into a parked vehicle on Park Avenue late Friday. Driver of the auto, William D. Haddad, 15, 112 Country Club Rd., was driving south on Park Avenue when he struck a car parked on the street, owned by Anna S. Oliver, 1031 Park Ave. The incident was still under investigation by Monroe police late Friday.

Two were injured in a two-vehicle collision on the Winnboro Road (La. 15) south of town in front of Hogan's Grocery Store. Dennis Abrough, 18, of Rt. 1, Monroe, was treated at St. Francis hospital for lacerations of the forehead and nose following the collision. He was riding in a vehicle driven east on the Winnboro Road by Donald Gene Demoss, 16, 801 Standifer St., when it crashed into a westbound auto driven by David Armstrong, 25, Negro, 518 Mark St., Monroe. Armstrong, treated at Charity hospital for severe head lacerations, made million over last year. The unemployment increase to 3.9 million boosted the percentage of the work force without jobs from 5.5 to 5.9 per cent from October. The work force total held about steady at 76 million in the face of an expected seasonal decline because many women agricultural workers remained in the market for jobs, he said.

Teen-agers showed the sharpest rise in unemployment, from 15.4 to 17.2 per cent, while the rates for adult men and women climbed only .2 per cent and .3 per cent, respectively, to 4.3 and 5.7.

The jobless total included 900,000 long-term unemployed who had been looking for work 15 weeks or more. Of those, 500,000 have been out of work six months or longer. Both figures are unchanged from a year ago.

a left turn in front of the Demoss auto according to investigating officers. They charged the Negro with reckless driving. Abrough was taken to the hospital by Hixson ambulance for emergency treatment.

A 38-year-old West Monroe woman, Dora K. Paschel, Rt. 4, Box 164-A, West Monroe, sustained lacerations of the head and mouth and was slated for head x-rays following a collision on U. S. 80, west of West Monroe about 6 p.m. She crashed into the rear of a car driven west on the highway by Bennie E. Dunn, 30, Rt. 1, West Monroe, when Dunn stopped for preceding traffic to make a turn off the road.

Investigating state troopers charged her with following too close in traffic. Troopers said both vehicles were heavily damaged.

In another accident late Friday, two Wisner women were injured when the car they were riding in was involved in a collision on La. Highway 15 south of Monroe. Mrs. C. C. Stephens, 60, and Delores Laird, 22, both of Wisner, were given emergency treatment at St. Francis hospital for minor injuries. They were riding in a car driven south on the highway by Joey L. Laird, also of Wisner.

The Laird vehicle crashed into another car driven by Marvin O. Evans, 16, of 702 Mississippi St. According to investigating troopers, Evans was driving south on the highway in front of the Lairds and pulled off the road into a service station driveway, then pulled back onto the highway in front of the Laird vehicle. Evans was ticketed for reckless driving.

In other police activities, Monroe officers logged two counts of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages Friday. William R. Kelly,

Big Change Seen In State Legislature

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The winner of the Louisiana governor's race may work with a record number of new lawmakers. Several factors point toward a heavy turnover in legislative seats. One is the record 500 candidates who seek seats—449 in races for the 105-member House and 141 for the 39-member Senate.

The rate of new legislators from one administration to another has run up to 70 per cent. Terms of the governors and legislators run concurrently.

Only 66 incumbents seek reelection to the House and 33 to the Senate.

The 1963 House reapportionment act removed eight seats from some parishes and shifted them to increase representation in other areas. This means eight new faces.

Sen. Harold Montgomery, Doyline, is the only Senate member who gained the Democratic nomination without opposition.

Six senators are not seeking to return. They are Lee Firm in, Franklin, Guy Sockrider, Lake Charles, William Carpenter, Bastrop, Speedy O. Long, Jena, Mrs. Irene Sevier, Tallulah, and C. M. Poston, Hornbeck. Long is running for state insurance commissioner. Poston has been ill.

In the House, only four representatives are unopposed in Saturday's Democratic primary. They are Ford Stinson, Bossier Parish, John Garrett, Claiborne Parish, Edgar Lancaster, Madison, and Percy Branton, Webster.

Rep. Louis Michot Jr., Lafayette Parish, is one of the 10 candidates for governor. Four representatives are seeking Senate seats—Jules Millere, Jefferson, Jesse Knowles, Calcasieu, Paul Foshee, Natchitoches, and Jerry Ashley, Acadia.

Two Orleans Parish representatives died—Walter Clark, Ward 3, and Frank J. Altmeyer, Ward one.

Several veteran lawmakers are fighting for their political lives, including some of Gov.

38, of 215 King St., was booked for DWI and reckless driving at 12:30 a.m. after being apprehended in the intersection of Jackson and Orange Street.

Mallory Hamilton, 62, of 2930 Cypress St., West Monroe, was booked on the same two counts at 1:53 a.m. in the 2600 block of Louisville Avenue.

Court Reverses Death Sentence In Assault Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday reversed the conviction of a Negro sentenced to death in the rape of a white woman.

The court, ruling in the case of Woodman J. Collins who was arrested April 8, 1960, sent the case back to federal district court for any further proceedings.

Jimmie H. Davis' House and Senate leaders.

Sen. William Cleveland, Crowley, faces three opponents, including Rep. Ashley.

Sen. Howard Jones, St. Joseph, is in a field of eight. Sen. Sylvan Friedman, Natchez, Davis' Senate president pro tempore, is opposed by two, including Rep. Foshee.

Sen. B. B. (Sixty) Rayburn, Bogalusa, who served as a Senate floor leader under both the late Earl K. Long and Davis, faces three opponents.

House Speaker Thomas Jewell has an opponent in Pointe Coupee Parish, and Reos, Risley Triche, Assumption Parish, and Bryan Lehmann, St. Charles, Davis' House floor leaders, have opposition for their seats.

Another key Davis leader, Rep. T. T. Fields, Union Parish, ended his long career in the House. Fields has won a seat on the Democratic State Central Committee without opposition.

Veteran Rep. Robert Angelle, St. Martin, who served as speaker under Long, has three opponents, including one with the same surname.

Five Negroes are seeking Democratic nominations for House seats. They are Major Johns in Iberville Parish, Lionel Randolph Collins in Jefferson, Lawrence A. Wheeler in Orleans Parish Ward 2, Carlton H. Peot in Orleans Ward 7, and Nils Douglas in Orleans Ward 9.

Big Change Seen In State Legislature

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The winner of the Louisiana governor's race may work with a record number of new lawmakers.
Several factors point toward a heavy turnover in legislative seats. One is the record 590 candidates who seek seats—449 in races for the 105-member House and 141 for the 39-member Senate.
The rate of new legislators from one administration to another has run up to 70 per cent. Terms of the governors and legislators run concurrently.
Only 66 incumbents seek reelection to the House and 33 to the Senate.
The 1963 House reapportionment act removed eight seats from some parishes and shifted them to increase representation in other areas. This means eight new faces.
Sen. Harold Montgomery, Doyline, is the only Senate member who gained the Democratic nomination without opposition.
Six senators are not seeking to return. They are Lee Firm in, Franklin, Guy Sockrider, Lake Charles, William Carpenter, Bastrop, Speedy O. Long, Jena, Mrs. Irene Sevier, Tallulah, and C. M. Poston. Hornbeck, Long is running for state insurance commissioner. Poston has been ill.
In the House, only four representatives are unopposed in Saturday's Democratic primary. They are Ford Stinson, Bossier Parish, John Garrett, Claiborne, Edgar Lancaster, Madison, and Parey Branton, Webster.
Rep. Louis Michot Jr., Lafayette Parish, is one of the 10 candidates for governor. Four representatives are seeking Senate seats—Jules Millere, Jefferson, Jesse Knowles, Calcasieu, Paul Foshie, Natchitoches, and Jerry Ashley, Acadia.
Two Orleans Parish representatives died—Walter Clark, Ward 3, and Frank J. Altmeyer, Ward one.
Several veteran lawmakers are fighting for their political lives, including some of Gov.

Court Reverses Death Sentence In Assault Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday reversed the conviction of a Negro sentenced to death in the rape of a white woman.
The court, ruling in the case of Woodman J. Collins who was arrested April 8, 1960, sent the case back to federal district court for any further proceedings.
Jimmie H. Davis' House and Senate leaders.
Sen. William Cleveland, Crowley, faces three opponents, including Rep. Ashley.
Sen. Howard Jones, St. Joseph, is in a field of eight. Sen. Sylvan Friedman, Natchez, Davis' Senate president pro tempore, is opposed by two, including Rep. Foshie.
Sen. B. B. (Sixty) Rayburn, Bogalusa, who served as a Senate floor leader under both the late Earl K. Long and Davis, faces three opponents.
House Speaker Thomas Jewell has an opponent in Pointe Coupee Parish, and Reos. Risley Triche, Assumption Parish, and Bryan Lehmann, St. Charles, Davis' House floor leaders, have opposition for their seats.
Another key Davis leader, Rep. T. T. Fields, Union Parish, ended his long career in the House. Fields has won a seat on the Democratic State Central Committee without opposition.
Veteran Rep. Robert Angelle, St. Martin, who served as speaker under Long, has three opponents, including one with the same surname.
Five Negroes are seeking Democratic nominations for House seats. They are Major Johns in Iberville Parish, Lionel Randolph Collins in Jefferson, Lawrence A. Wheeler in Orleans Parish Ward 2, Caglion H. Pecot in Orleans Ward 7, and Nils Douglas in Orleans Ward 9.

Officials Survey Wind Damages At New School

Wind damages at the new Ouachita Parish Elementary and Junior High School were surveyed Friday by school officials.

Supt. Milton Hall said the damage was done during a brief windstorm Nov. 22, soon after the school had been dismissed for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Recently accepted by the school board, the school had been left open before completion because of a strike, it was recalled, but Hall made no connection between that fact and the damage.

Wind warped the interior ceiling in about six rooms, Hall said, causing some pieces of tile to fall.

Business Manager Jack Young and a party of school board members looked at the building last week, in the absence of Hall, and called the damage "relatively minor" and covered by insurance.

Top Interest In Governor, Local Races

Meantime, the Louisiana voter has nine candidates for lieutenant governor to choose from — incumbent C. C. (Taddy) Aycock, an independent, Harry R. Cabral Jr., who is Jackson's running-mate; Francis Dugas, running on the Kennon ticket; Claude B. Duval, Morrison's running-mate; C. R. Knotts, an independent from Saline; Ashton J. Mouton, McKeithen's running-mate; Edward J. Price Jr., who is running with Michot; Richard O. Rush, Long's running-mate; and Ernest J. Wright of New Orleans.

Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion is seeking re-election against one opponent — Charles A. Riddle Jr., former district attorney of Avoylees Parish.

Two veteran state officials, Sec. of State Wade O. Martin Jr. and Register of State Lands Ellen Bryan Moore, are unopposed. Treasurer A. P. Tugwell, 28 years in the capitol, has one opponent, Nat Gros of New Orleans.

But other state races have drawn a sizeable number of candidates.

Comptroller Roy Theriot is seeking re-election against eight opponents — James B. Curley of Lafayette, George F. Dupuis Sr. of Lafayette, Andrew J. Falcon of Gonzales, J. Arthur LeBlanc Jr. of Houma, Ralph S. Guave of Springfield, John Theriot of Lafayette, Dewey J. Voinche of Crowley and Roy Wallace of Baton Rouge.

With Shelby Jackson running for governor, the superintendent's race is crowded with five candidates — William J. Dodd, chairman of the State Board of Education; Charles J. Perilloux Sr., Department of Education; Archie E. Robinson, Department of Education; Raphael Teagle, Department of Education; Evelyn L. Terrell, Department of Education; and F. F. Wimberly, school superintendent of New Iberia.

Dave L. Pearce, commissioner of agriculture, is running against a former commissioner, Sidney J. McCrory of Baton Rouge.

Meantime, five candidates are seeking the commissioner of insurance's post — John W. Davidson of Alexandria, Jack Dyer, a state representative running on the Morrison ticket, Dudley A. Guglielmo, deputy commissioner for 23 years, D. L. (Lighting) Long of Baton Rouge and Speedy O. Long, state senator running on McKeithen's ticket.

Douglas Fowler, custodian of voting machines, has five opponents — Eno S. Ayo of Baton Rouge, George B. Cain of Monroe, John J. Caswell of New Orleans, George Cross of Homer and Raymond J. Laborde, the Marksville mayor running on Morrison's ticket.

Locally, the major courthouse incumbents are unopposed, but other Fifth District parishes are featuring heated contests for parish posts.

Local races are being topped by a two-man Senate campaign and a 10-man House race. Sen. Jamar W. Adcock is seeking re-election to his second term, but he is being opposed by Howard Griffith, a West Monroe radio station owner.

Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, seeking his third term, and Rep. Mike John Jr., going for his second, have eight opponents — D. C. Bernhardt, a Monroe attorney, Ralph Caldwell, public relations director for Olin Mathieson, Archie L. Dickerson, a Monroe salesman, Loy K. Heard, West Monroe contractor, Pete J. Medak, a Monroe salesman, Harvey E. (Connie) White, a Monroe brick contractor, George A. Wood, retired assistant police chief of Monroe, and Hubert Yeldell, a Monroe contractor.

In addition, four candidates are seeking the two seats on the State Central Democratic Committee in Ouachita. Gibbs and Fred Fudiek Jr., an attorney, are seeking re-election

Oswald's Widow Tells Of Attempt On Gen. Walker

"The files and the evidence which have been accumulated by Texas local and state authorities are in the hands of the FBI for its use."

"The investigation is being conducted vigorously, reaching across the boundaries of many states and several nations to date."

"Consistent with the purpose of our state to cooperate closely in this investigation, it is our considered judgment that the Texas court of inquiry, if held at this time or in the immediate future, might bring about an interruption in the continuity of the nationwide investigation."

"For these reasons, it is my conclusion and my decision that the convening of a court of inquiry at the present time should be withheld."

Neither the FBI nor the Justice Department would confirm the report about information given by Mrs. Oswald, but it was learned that the FBI has been inquiring into the Walker shooting as part of its investigation of Kennedy's death and the subsequent slaying of Oswald.

The episode, etc., 5th graf 1a7.

The episode reportedly is part of the FBI's massive report on the assassination, delivered Thursday to the Justice Department and shortly to go to the White House.

FBI agents recently picked up the Dallas Police Department report on the assault on Walker, Dallas officials disclosed.

Both the Chicago Sun-Times and the Washington Evening Star broke stories Friday of evidence that Oswald fired the shot at Walker. The Associated Press obtained confirmation of the story from two official sources.

The Sun-Times did not refer to Oswald's reported boast to his wife, but carried this quotation from the 53-year-old general who resigned from the Army in 1961 after being relieved of his command in Germany:

"I didn't know anything about Oswald until he was arrested for the assassination of the president."

Officials Survey Wind Damages At New School

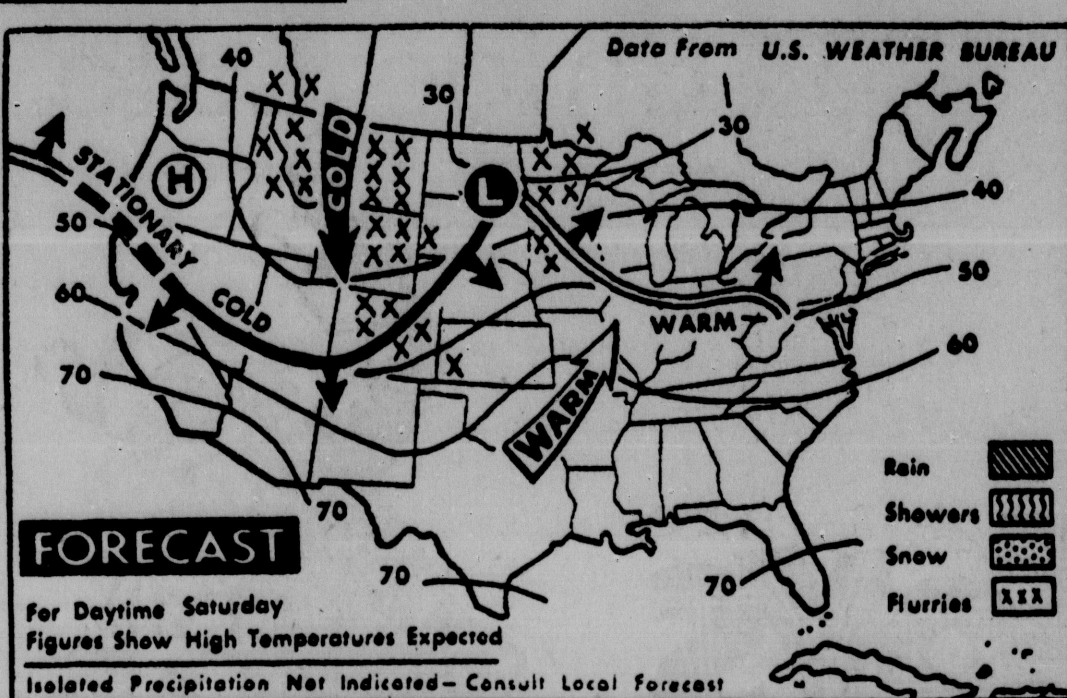

Wind damages at the new Ouachita Parish Elementary and Junior High School were surveyed Friday by school officials.

Supt. Milton Hall said the damage was done during a brief windstorm Nov. 22, soon after the school had been dismissed for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Recently accepted by the school board, the school had been left open before completion because of a strike, it was recalled, but Hall made no connection between that fact and the damage.

Wind warped the interior ceiling in about six rooms, Hall said, causing some pieces of tile to fall.

Business Manager Jack Young and a party of school board members looked at the building last week, in the absence of Hall, and called the damage "relatively minor" and covered by insurance.

SCATTERED SNOW SHOWERS, possibly mixed with rain showers in warmer portions, will occur today over northern plateau and parts of central plains and upper Mississippi valley. Cooler weather will prevail over northern plateau, northern plains and upper Mississippi valley. Warmer weather will prevail over almost the entire eastern half of country except for extreme northeastern and southeastern sections. The rest of nation will be partly cloudy to fair with little temperature change. (AP Wirephoto)

Top Interest In Governor, Local Races

sure, because the votes are scattered.

For added anxiety riding on Republican hopes, the Democratic nominee must face a Republican nominee, Charlton Lyons, in the March 3rd general election.

Even in Ouachita Parish the winners of the Democratic primaries in the Police Jury election will face Republican opposition in Wards 3, 5 and 10 in the general election.

There are not any other Republican candidates in the Fifth District. The Republicans haven't been in control in Louisiana since Reconstruction.

The Democrats, meantime, will face a packed ballot today, because the races are filled with candidates for state and local offices.

Gubernatorial candidates include the following:

Shelby M. Jackson, state superintendent of education for the past 16 years and a native of Concordia Parish.

Robert F. Kennon, governor from 1952-56, a former judge and former mayor of Minden.

Claude Kirkpatrick, director of the Department of Public Works, a former legislator and Jennings businessman.

Hugh P. Lasseigne, a Baton Rouge salesman known in capitol circles as "diamond Jim."

Gillis W. Long, freshman congressman from the Eighth District supported by his distant kinsman of U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long.

John J. McKeithen, public service commissioner from this district, an attorney and native of Caldwell Parish.

Louis J. Michot Jr., a freshman state representative from Lafayette, a young businessman.

DeLesseps S. Morrison, former New Orleans mayor and former ambassador, a native of New Roads.

A. Roswell Thompson, a New Orleans cabbie.

Wilford L. Thompson Sr., a staunch Long supporter from Zachary who is known in political circles as "Two Gun."

Out of this field Kennon, Morrison and Roswell Thompson have been candidates for governor before. Kennon received 163,434 votes in the 1952 primary, then defeated Judge Carlos Spahit in the run-off when he got 482,302 votes to Spahit's 302,743.

Morrison, making his third bid for the governorship, lost the run-off to Gov. Jimmie H. Davis four years ago after leading the first primary with 278,956 votes or 33.1 per cent of the votes.

Davis polled 487,581 votes to Morrison's 414,110 in the run-off.

In 1956, Morrison received 191,576 votes in the first primary, but the late Earl K. Long won his third term in the governorship with a first primary victory, receiving 421,681 votes.

Roswell Thompson received 4,200 votes in the first primary in 1959.

Meantime, the Louisiana voter has nine candidates for lieutenant governor to choose from — incumbent C. C. (Taddy) Aycock, an independent, Harry R. Cabral Jr., who is Jackson's running-mate; Francis Dugas, running on the Kennon ticket; Claude B. Duval, Morrison's running-mate; C. R. Knotts, an independent from Saline; Ashton J. Mouton, McKeithen's running-mate; Edward J. Price Jr., who is running with Michot; Richard O. Rush, Long's running-mate; and Ernest J. Wright of New Orleans.

Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion is seeking re-election against one opponent — Charles A. Riddle Jr., former district attorney of Avoynes Parish.

Two veteran state officials, Sec. of State Wade O. Martin Jr. and Register of State Lands Ellen Bryan Moore, are unopposed. Treasurer A. P. Tugwell, 28 years in the capitol, has one opponent, Nat Gros of New Orleans.

But other state races have drawn a sizeable number of candidates.

Comptroller Roy Theriot is seeking re-election against eight opponents — James B. Curley of Lafayette, George F. Dupuis Sr. of Lafayette, Andrew J. Falcon of Gonzales, J. Arthur LeBlanc Jr. of Houma, Ralph S. Quave of Springfield, John Theriot of Lafayette, Dewey J. Voinche of Crowley and Roy Wallace of Baton Rouge.

With Shelby Jackson running for governor, the superintendent's race is crowded with five candidates — William J. Dodd, chairman of the State Board of Education; Charles J. Perilloux Sr., Department of Education; Archie E. Robinson, Department of Education; Raphael Teagle, Department of Education; Evelyn L. Terrell, Department of Education; and F. F. Wimberly, school superintendent of New Iberia.

Dave L. Pearce, commissioner of agriculture, is running against a former commissioner, Sidney J. McCrory of Baton Rouge.

Meantime, five candidates are seeking the commissioner of insurance's post — John W. Davidson of Alexandria, Jack Dyer, a state representative running on the Morrison ticket, Dudley A. Guglielmo, deputy commissioner for 23 years, D. L. (Lighting) Long of Baton Rouge and Speedy O. Long, state senator running on McKeithen's ticket.

Douglas Fowler, custodian of voting machines, has five opponents — Eno S. Ayo of Baton Rouge, George B. Cain of Monroe, John J. Caswell of New Orleans, George Cross of Homer, and Raymond J. Laborde, the Marksville mayor running on Morrison's ticket.

Locally, the major courthouse incumbents are unopposed, but other Fifth District parishes are featuring heated contests for parish posts.

Local races are being topped by a two-man Senate campaign and a 10-man House race. Sen. Jamar W. Adcock is seeking re-election to his second term, but he is being opposed by Howard Griffith, a West Monroe radio station owner.

Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, seeking his third term, and Rep. Mike John Jr., going for his second, have eight opponents — D. C. Bernhardt, a Monroe attorney, Ralph Caldwell, public relations director for Olin Mathieson, Archie L. Dickerson, a Monroe salesman, Loy K. Heard, West Monroe contractor, Pete J. Medak, a Monroe salesman, Harvey E. (Connie) White, a Monroe brick contractor, George A. Wood, retired assistant police chief of Monroe, and Hubert Yeldell, a Monroe contractor.

In addition, four candidates are seeking the two seats on the State Central Democratic Committee in Ouachita. Gibbs and Fred Fudick Jr., an attorney, are seeking re-election to the fullest extent," Carr said. "The files and the evidence which have been accumulated by Texas local and state authorities are in the hands of the FBI for its use."

"The investigation is being conducted vigorously, reaching across the boundaries of many states and several nations to date."

"Consistent with the purpose of our state to cooperate closely in this investigation, it is our considered judgment that the Texas court of inquiry, if held at this time or in the immediate future, might bring about an interruption in the continuity of the nationwide investigation."

"For these reasons, it is my conclusion and my decision that the convening of a court of inquiry at the present time should be withheld."

Neither the FBI nor the Justice Department would confirm the report about information given by Mrs. Oswald, but it was learned that the FBI has been inquiring into the Walker shooting as part of its investigation of Kennedy's death and the subsequent slaying of Oswald.

The episode, etc., 5th graf ta17. The episode reportedly is part of the FBI's massive report on the assassination, delivered Thursday to the Justice Department and shortly to go to the White House.

FBI agents recently picked up the Dallas Police Department report on the assault on Walker, Dallas officials disclosed.

Both the Chicago Sun-Times and the Washington Evening Star broke stories Friday of evidence that Oswald fired the shot at Walker. The Associated Press obtained confirmation of the story from two official sources.

The Sun-Times did not refer to Oswald's reported boast to his wife, but carried this quotation from the 53-year-old general who resigned from the Army in 1961 after being relieved of his command in Germany:

"I didn't know anything about Oswald until he was arrested for the assassination of the president."

Frankfurter, former Supreme Court justice.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will be heading for Paris and a semiannual meeting of NATO foreign, defense and finance ministers that starts Dec. 16. The meeting is expected to go into such matters as long-range NATO strategy, so Johnson wanted to catch up in this and other areas.

He was brought up to date as well on talks that have been under way in Paris on a multinational nuclear force.

For the United States, special Ambassador Livingston Merchant has been the chief participant. Standing in for him Friday, Johnson's special assistant on national security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, sat in on the White House meeting. So did his brother, William Bundy, who operates in the same field in the Pentagon as assistant secretary for international security affairs.

Salinger said certain interrelated State and Defense Department budget problems came up. He didn't offer any examples, but the field of military aid to friendly nations could have been one.

day, to bring Johnson up to date on the attitudes of the various governments, was Walt W. Rostow, head of the State Department's policy planning staff.

Since France has balked at going into such a force, this is not a NATO project. Seven of the 15 NATO members are considering it, however. Only the United States and Germany have shown any solid enthusiasm for this country's proposal to develop a surface fleet with a nuclear punch.

ELECT NO. 167

Rick Bryan
Travesty
Inc.

Or, The AP Team

Hang your heads ye Southerners, the Associated Press has picked its Little All-America team.

Did you know that Southern small college football is at such a low ebb that there was not one single player from the Texas border all the way east to Tampa, Fla. in any state south of Tennessee who was good enough to be named to the Associated Press Little All-America team?

There were players from the North, Midwest and Pacific Coast, but none from the South—and this includes Robert Hayes, the Florida A&M sprinter who was so highly regarded by the pros he was drafted as a future.

But, let's narrow it down a little.

Out of the entire list of at least 50 Little Americans chosen, exactly four were drafted within the first 10 rounds by the National Football League. In Louisiana, the Gulf States Conference alone had four players drafted by the ninth round. Three of these players were drafted not only by the NFL, but by the American Football League as well (and by the 10th round).

Of course, not one of these players was mentioned anywhere on the AP team.

The players are Sammy Joe Odom from Northwestern State college, a seventh round NFL draft choice; Louisiana Tech's John Robert Williamson, an eighth round selection; Jerry Burton from Northwestern and Darrell Lester from McNeese, both ninth round selections.

As far as we have been able to check no other small college conference in the nation had as many people drafted within the first 10 rounds.

By the way, the AP story proudly brings out a point, quoted as follows:

"The ends (on the first team) are Bob Cherry of Wittenberg and Jerry Cole of Southwest Texas, both incidentally selected in the National Football League draft."

We finally discovered when they were drafted. Not the ninth or 10th rounds, but—now get this—the 16th and 19th rounds.

But Odom, the 10th small college player drafted from anywhere in the nation, Williamson, the 14th (player - not round), Lester, the 20th and Burton, the 21st, aren't good enough to even make the AP honorable mention list.

Okay, so much for pro football. It isn't the only criteria. Let's just look at two of the players, Odom and Williamson. Both are centers and linebacksers.

Odom (6-2, 222) was first recruited by Louisiana State. He was good enough to play for the Chinese Bandits (the nation's most heralded defensive unit) against Colorado in the Orange Bowl before transferring to Northwestern.

Williamson (6-2, 230) was sought by LSU, Alabama, Arkansas and a host of other big schools. He first made the All-Gulf States Conference team as a sophomore. He has been called the best center at Tech since Leo Sanford, who played for many years in the National Football League.

A Little Irony?

These are the players who can't make the AP team—people who could have played or did play on the country's best major college teams. Does it strike you as being a wee bit ironic?

By these standards the people who were good enough to make the AP team should make Roger Staubach or Don Trull look like a pair of little leaguers.

Care to look at a few of them? We saw one play, Don Mraz, a halfback from McMurry in Abilene, Tex. Mraz was so impressive he gained exactly 26 yards against Northeast State which tied for last place in the Gulf States Conference. Maybe he just didn't have any "Little All-Americans" to block for him, ya reckon?

Tampa U. has two people on the AP team. Yet McNeese State in the GSC mauled Tampa 57-12. This, of course, doesn't negate Tampa having two Little All-Americans. But it makes you wonder why McNeese had none, particularly when you remember McNeese got its entire backfield and a good portion of its line from Louisiana State.

What about the Gulf States Conference as a body?

McNeese was undefeated, beat Louisiana Tech 27-6 and smashed both Howard College and Tampa by scores which were highly comparable to those registered against the two schools by Mississippi State and the University of Mississippi.

Tech, in turn, won 10-0 over Southern Mississippi, a major college independent. The Southern record this year produces some curious comparisons. Only four teams scored against Southern: Memphis State, North Carolina State, The Citadel and Tech. Tech is the only small college team in the group.

Three teams managed to hold Southern scoreless: North Carolina State, Florida State and Tech. A gain Tech was the only small college team which blanked Southern.

If this leads you to believe that some GSC teams could go on the field against at least some members of the Southeastern Conference (or several other major college groups) without getting completely mutilated—you will find history books you up SEC teams have furnished both Southern (a former GSC team) and Tech some of their most memorable afternoons in the not too distant past.

And can you picture Tulane or Vanderbilt flattening the LSU transfer team from McNeese this year?

In happier days GSC teams took on all comers, North and South. Evidently they did more than survive since four of the six head coaches have winning records. In fact Tech teams in the last 23 years have played LSU, Ole Miss, Auburn, Houston, Memphis State, Florida State, Bradley and Xavier in addition to Southern. They recorded wins against virtually every team on the list, were seldom run off the field and have had exactly two losing seasons in the past 23 years.

The sad and obvious truth is that the teams in the Gulf States Conference are not small college powers at all. The Williamson System, one of the few organizations in the business with any sense at all, breaks the nation's colleges into three groups. The teams in the Gulf States Conference are in the Williamson mid-bracket, and this, by all that is just and right, is where they belong and have belonged for some time (GSC players, incidentally, make the Williamson mid-bracket All-America team almost every year).

Out Of The Past

It is little wonder that a league the strength of the Gulf States Conference turns out the quality of players it does.

In the past seven years these individuals have graduated from GSC schools.

Jackie Smith from Northwestern is the first string tight end as a rookie this year with the St. Louis Cardinals. Smith is third in total yardage as a pass receiver with St. Louis and was named to the NFL all-rookie team.

Mickey Slaughter from Louisiana Tech as of last week was the seventh most effective passer in the AFL this rookie year with the Denver Broncos. He was the second most accurate passer in NCAA football his junior year in college and set a national NCAA career record for the least number of interceptions per attempt. Denver Coach Jack Faulkner said Slaughter knew more football than any other rookie he had ever seen.

Don Breaux from McNeese State was dropped by Houston last year but moved up from the Denver "Taxi" squad this fall and did a creditable job when both Slaughter and John McCormick were injured.

Tom Sestak from McNeese State is a two year veteran at defensive tackle with Buffalo. He was named to the league all-star team last year and mentioned in rookie of the year voting. This fall he is rated by some the best defensive linemen in the league.

Smokey Stover, from Northeast State is a veteran line-backer for the Kansas City Chiefs.

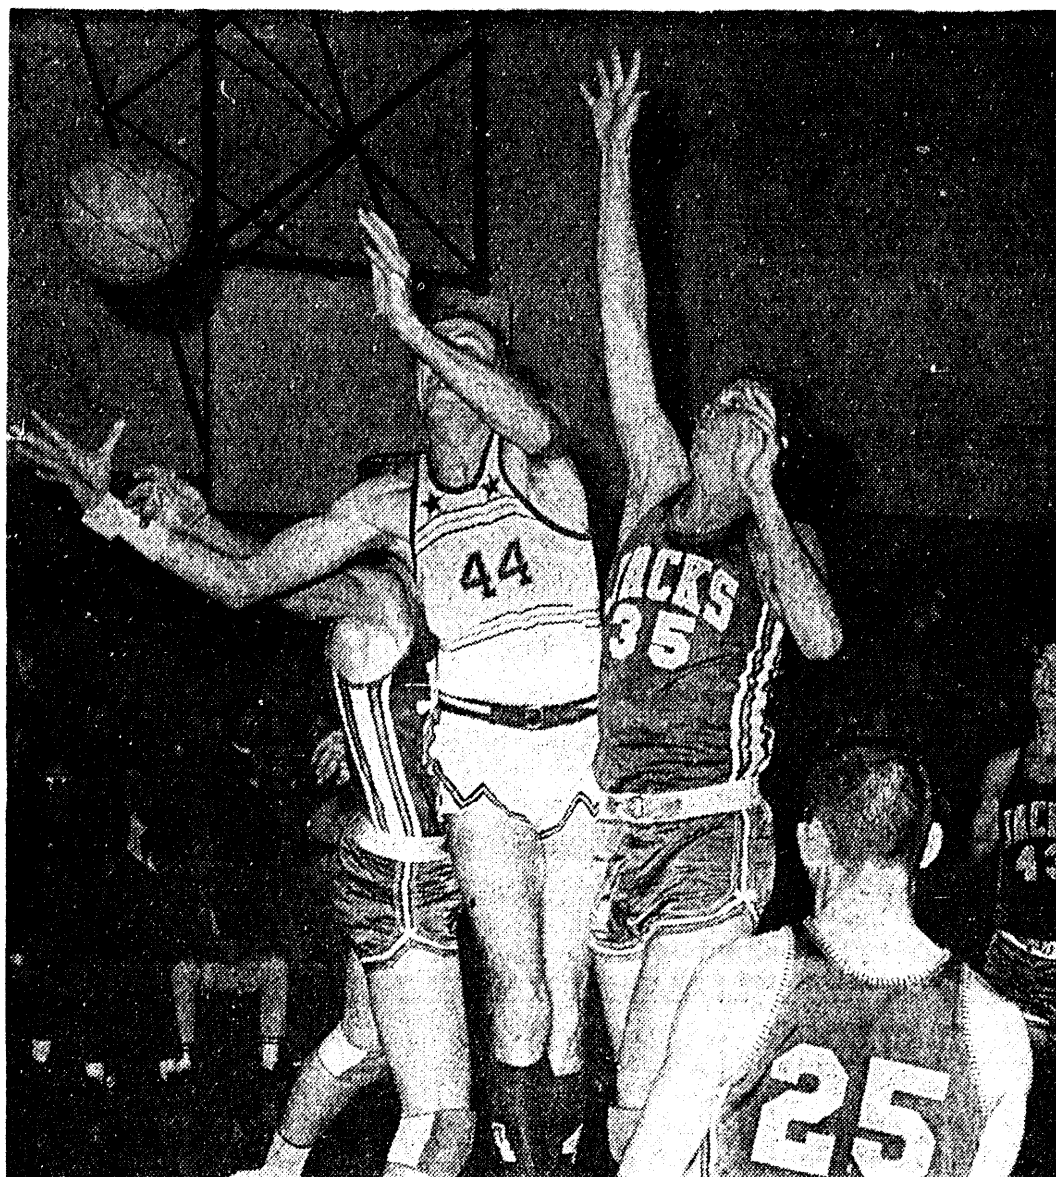

Tommy Hinton from Louisiana Tech is a six year veteran of Canadian League football and this year was named to the Western All-Stars offensive team.

Charlie Tolar from Northwestern is the first string fullback with the Houston Oilers, one of the hardest men in the league to tackle and probably the most popular star in the AFL. He became the club's first 1,000 yard gainer in 1962.

Charlie Hennigan from Northwestern was an all-pro flanker-back with Houston the past two years. He caught passes for 1,746 yards in 1961, the all-time professional record.

The utterly amazing thing is that a check with the sports publicists at the players' schools revealed not a single one of them was named to any Associated Press Little All-America team. However, Tolar, Sestak, Hinton and Slaughter were all named to the Williamson mid-bracket teams. Now we ask you who is picking Little All-Americans and who isn't?

Chuck Crawford Is Most Valuable Player

Fullback Chuck Crawford was named the Most Valuable Player of West Monroe High at the annual football banquet held Friday night.

The 200 pound fullback also took the best defensive honors. Crawford, noted for his second efforts throughout the season, scored six touchdowns and compiled a 4.7 rushing average on 81 carries. His play kept West Monroe in the fight in most of its games.

Jamie Barrett (150) the little halfback and fullback Bill Edgar (185) were both awarded the Most Improved honors.

Barrett played football for the first time last but was remarkable in his ability to cover pass receivers. Edgar who was shadowed by Crawford most of the year greatly improved his running game, developing a tricky sidestep that fooled opponents.

Morgan Veston, a senior, ruptured his knee in the Ouachita game, but played outstanding games before that one. He took the sportsmanship trophy. His main asset was the ability to block opponents after centering the ball. He weighs 190 and played center.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Pole vaulter John Pennel of Northeast Louisiana State College has won the National Amateur Athletic Union's award for the best single performance of the year.

He vaulted 17 ft., 4 inches on Aug. 24 at Miami, Fla., a mark that was approved as a world record Thursday.

Pennel polled 181 points to edge sprinter Bob Hayes of Florida A&M for the performance of the year award. Hayes, who ran a 9.1 hundred-yard dash, received 159 points in the voting.

Jesuit Gains Finals Berth

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Jesuit of New Orleans gained a berth in the triple-A football finals as it downed tough Lafayette 6-0 Friday night.

The Jays' victory, coupled with Holy Cross' 14-6 win over LaGrange of Lake Charles will make the triple-A championship game next week an all-New Orleans affair.

Jesuit scored with 9:31 left in the second period when Pete Schweigert raced over from the five. Ray Tackaberry's conversion attempt failed.

The tally was set up when Dave Eigenbrod intercepted a Steve Kimbrough aerial on the Lions' 30 and returned three yards. Eight plays later Schweigert went over.

Lafayette threatened twice in the final period.

The 1965 World Series is the only one in which all five games were shutouts. The Giant beat the Athletics, four games to one.

Enloe Late Shots Edge SFA, 60-59

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Northeast State's Indians, always incredibly hard to beat at home, came from behind to hand a taller, more experienced Stephen F. Austin team its first defeat of the season 60-59 here Friday night on a pair of pressure foul shots by sophomore Tommy Enloe with only 16 seconds left in the game.

It was an uphill fight all the way for a young Indian squad which has not played better this year. Northeast led only one other time and that was briefly, 41-39 with 13:41 remaining in the second half.

The Lumberjacks, who alternated units and used a full court press off and on from the beginning of the game, led the rest of the time and by as much as nine points. The score was 37-30 at the half.

But Northeast returned after intermission to outdefend the tall Texans and then close the gap behind the scoring of seniors Jimmy Walker and Irvy Gamble. Walker led all scorers for the night with 25 points and paced Indian rebounding with 10. Gamble, the 5-7 guard from Marthaville, was second with 10 points.

It took the Tribe only a few minutes to knot it up 39-39. The score was tied two more times, before the Lumberjacks moved away to leads of three and five points.

A pair of Walker field goals closed the gap to 53-52 with 4:30 left, but Stephen Austin's Glen Stancil dropped in three gratis tosses to make it 56-52. Both sides swapped points until Gamble pumped in one at 1:48 which cut the Lumberjacks' margin to 59-58.

SFA went into a stall then and held the ball until the Indians fouled to get the ball with 37 seconds. The 'Jacks missed a crucial charity toss, Northeast took the ball and Enloe dropped in his game-winning foul shot. Stancil led SFA with 14 points, eight of them coming in the first half.

He was followed by 6.5 Jim Simpson who scored 10 and pulled down 12 rebounds.

The Lumberjacks outscored Northeast from the floor, making 24 of 58 shots, compared to 22 of 51.

Northeast, however, got 16 of 21 foul shots against 11 of 14 for SFA. The rebounding was almost equal, Northeast hauling 36 off the boards and the 'Jacks 35.

Holy Cross Gets In Finals With 14-6 Triumph

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Holy Cross parlayed three yards and a cloud of dust performance into the triple-A state finals Friday night with a 14-6 victory over LaGrange of Lake Charles.

But Holy Cross Coach John Kahlbacher was far from satisfied with the showing made by his top-ranked Tigers.

"The offense was not bad," said Kahlbacher. "But the defense wasn't good."

Yet the defense was good enough to stop one LaGrange scoring threat and intercept passes to break up two more.

The victory earned Holy Cross a berth in the triple-A finals against district rival Jesuit of New Orleans. When the two teams met in regular season competition, Holy Cross won 7-0.

Jesuit whipped Lafayette 6-0 Friday night for the other spot in the finals.

Holy Cross marched 74 yards after the opening kickoff for its first touchdown. Longest gainer in the series of 13 plays was a 15-yard pass from Ray Culotta to Bob Borison. It was the only Tiger pass completed all night.

Bear And Lip Miami Bound

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI (AP)—The world heavyweight title fight between "The Big Bear," champion Sonny Liston, and "The Louisville Lip," Cassius Clay, finally was set Friday for Feb. 26 in the Miami Beach Convention Hall. After keeping newsmen waiting almost two hours beyond the time of a scheduled news conference—while final details were ironed out—millionaire sportsman Bill MacDonald of Miami and Jack Nilon, Liston's advisor, announced that the agreement was complete.

MacDonald, treasurer of Tropical Park Race Track, will guarantee $625,000 from the live gate for the fighters' purses, with $400,000 going to Liston and $225,000 to Clay. He will have no interest in the closed-circuit theater television.

Television and other ancillary rights will be handled by Liston's organization, Intercontinental Promotions, Inc. The contract must be approved by William Faversham, the Louisville executive who heads the syndicate which handles Clay.

This is the second Liston title match slated for Miami Beach. He was to have had his second fight with Patterson here earlier this year, but after monumental mixups over contracts, postponements and a knee injury to the champion, the bout eventually was held in Las Vegas July 22. Liston scored another one-round knockout over Patterson.

Actually, this Liston-Clay fight was thought to have been set for Las Vegas—but the Nevada resort lost out.

A news conference was called for 12:30 p.m. EST Friday to announce the outcome of the fight negotiations. At that time, however, MacDonald was holed up with Nilon, Liston's attorneys and others in a hotel room at Miami Beach.

By 1:30 p.m., a rumor had started that a hitch had developed in the dealings. Chris Dundee, Miami Beach promoter who will be associated with MacDonald in putting on the fight, commented nervously that "maybe we haven't got a match."

Finally, however, MacDonald and Nilon arrived and, with big smiles, announced that the match had been signed, sealed and delivered "with absolutely no loose ends."

Nilon reported that during the huddle, he telephoned Liston in Denver and "talked to him at great length," and also cleared all details with other directors of Intercontinental Promotions.

"Liston was not only agreeable, he was happy about the whole thing," MacDonald said, "and, as you know, it isn't al-

Or, The AP Team

Hang your heads ye Southerners, the Associated Press has picked its Little All-America team.

Did you know that Southern small college football is at such a low ebb that there was not one single player from the Texas border all the way east to Tampa, Fla. in any state south of Tennessee who was good enough to be named to the Associated Press Little All-America team?

There were players from the North, Midwest and Pacific Coast, but none from the South—and this includes Robert Hayes, the Florida A&M sprinter who was so highly regarded by the pros he was drafted as a future.

But, let's narrow it down a little.

Out of the entire list of at least 50 Little Americans chosen, exactly four were drafted within the first 10 rounds by the National Football League. In Louisiana, the Gulf States Conference alone had four players drafted by the ninth round. Three of these players were drafted not only by the NFL, but by the American Football League as well (and by the 10th round).

Of course, not one of these players was mentioned anywhere on the AP team.

The players are Sammy Joe Odum from Northwestern State college, a seventh round NFL draft choice; Louisiana Tech's John Robert Williamson, an eighth round selection; plus Jerry Burton from Northwestern and Darrell Lester from McNeese, both ninth round selections.

As far as we have been able to check no other small college conference in the nation had as many people drafted within the first 10 rounds.

By the way, the AP story proudly brings out a point, quot-

A Little Ironic?

These are the players who can't make the AP team—people who could have played or did play on the country's best major college teams. Does it strike you as being a wee bit ironic?

By these standards the people who were good enough to make the AP team should make Roger Staubach or Don Trull look like a pair of little leaguers.

Care to look at a few of them? We saw one play, Don Mraz, a halfback from McMurry in Abilene, Tex. Mraz was so impressive he gained exactly 26 yards against Northeast State which tied for last place in the Gulf States Conference. Maybe he just didn't have any "Little All-Americans" to block for him, ya reckon?

Tampa U. has two people on the AP team. Yet McNeese State in the GSC mauled Tampa 37-12. This, of course, doesn't negate Tampa having two Little All-Americans. But it makes you wonder why McNeese had none, particularly when you remember McNeese got its entire backfield and a good portion of its line from Louisiana State.

What about the Gulf States Conference as a body?

McNeese was undefeated, beat Louisiana Tech 27-6 and smashed both Howard College and Tampa by scores which were highly comparable to those registered against the two schools by Mississippi State and the University of Mississippi.

Tech, in turn, won 10-0 over Southern Mississippi, a major college independent. The Southern record this year produces some curious comparisons. Only four teams scored against Southern: Memphis State, North Carolina State, The Citadel and Tech. Tech is the only small college team in the group.

Three teams managed to hold Southern scoreless: North Carolina State, Flori-

Out Of The Past

It is little wonder that a league the strength of the Gulf States Conference turns out the quality of players it does.

In the past seven years these individuals have graduated from GSC schools.

Jackie Smith from Northwestern is the first string tight end as a rookie this year with the St. Louis Cardinals. Smith is third in total yardage as a pass receiver with St. Louis and was named to the NFL all-rookie team.

Mickey Slaughter from Louisiana Tech as of last week was the seventh most effective passer in the AFL his rookie year with the Denver Broncos. He was the second most accurate passer in NCAA football his junior year in college and set a national NCAA career record for the least number of interceptions per attempt. Denver Coach Jack Faulkner said Slaughter knew more football than any other rookie he had ever seen.

Don Breaux from McNeese State was dropped by Houston last year but moved up from the Denver "Taxi" squad this fall and did a creditable job in both Slaughter and John McCormick were injured.

Tom Sestak from McNeese State is a two year veteran at defensive tackle with Buffalo. He was named to the league all-star team last year and mentioned in ed as follows: "The ends (on the first team) are Bob Cherry of Wittenberg and Jerry Cole of Southwest Texas, both incidentally selected in the National Football League draft."

We finally discovered when they were drafted. Not the ninth or 10th rounds, but—now get this—the 18th and 19th rounds.

But Odum, the 10th small college player drafted from anywhere in the nation, Williamson, the 14th (player - not round), Lester, the 20th and Burton, the 21st, aren't good enough to even make the AP honorable mention list.

Okay, so much for pro football. It isn't the only criteria. Let's just look at two of the players, Odum and Williamson. Both are centers and linebackers.

Odum (6-2, 222) was first recruited by Louisiana State. He was good enough to play for the Chinese Bandits (the nation's most heralded defensive unit) against Colorado in the Orange Bowl before transferring to Northwestern.

Williamson (6-2, 230) was sought by LSU, Alabama, Arkansas and a host of other big schools. He first made the All-Gulf States Conference team as a sophomore. He has been called the best center at Tech since Leo Sanford, who played for many years in the National Football League.

da State and Tech. Again Tech was the only small college team which blanked Southern.

If this leads you to believe that some GSC teams could go on the field against at least some members of the Southeastern Conference (or several other major college groups) without getting completely mutilated—you will find history backs you up. SEC teams have furnished both Southern (a former GSC team) and Tech some of their most memorable afternoons in the not too distant past. And can you picture Tulane or Vanderbilt flattening the LSU-transfer team from McNeese this year?

In happier days GSC teams took on all comers, North and South. Evidently they did more than survive since four of the six head coaches have winning records. In fact Tech teams in the last 23 years have played LSU, Ole Miss, Auburn, Houston, Memphis State, Florida State, Bradley and Xavier in addition to Southern. #### Holy Cross Gets In Finals With 14-6 Triumph

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Holy Cross parlayed three yards and a cloud of dust performance into the triple-A state finals Friday night with a 14-6 victory over LaGrange of Lake Charles.

But Holy Cross Coach John Kahlbacher was far from satisfied with the showing made by his top-ranked Tigers.

"The offense was not bad," said Kahlbacher. "But the defense wasn't good."

Yet the defense was good enough to stop one LaGrange scoring threat and intercept passes to break up two more.

The victory earned Holy Cross a berth in the triple-A finals against district rival Jesuit of New Orleans. When the two teams met in regular season competition, Holy Cross won 7-0.

Jesuit whipped Lafayette 6-0 Friday night for the other spot in the finals.

Holy Cross marched 74 yards after the opening kickoff for its first touchdown. Longest gainer in the series of 13 plays was a 15-yard pass from Ray Culotta to Bob Borison. It was the only Tiger pass completed all night.

Marion Tourney In Final Day

MARION (Special) — In girls game in the Marion tournament Friday night, Marion defeated Bernice, 52-38.

In a boys game, Farmerville stomped Huttig, 82-68.

Play starts at noon today with Marion meeting Linville in a girls game.

Among the players turning in good defensive performances were sophomores Lawson Swearingen and Larry Butler and junior Dick Williams. ## SIGNED AND SET

Bear And Lip Miami Bound

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI (AP) — The world heavyweight title fight between "The Big Bear," champion Sonny Liston, and "The Louisville Lip," Cassius Clay, finally was set Friday for Feb. 26 in the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

After keeping newsmen waiting almost two hours beyond the time of a scheduled news conference — while final details were ironed out — millionaire sportsman Bill MacDonald of Miami and Jack Nilon, Liston's advisor, announced that the agreement was complete.

MacDonald, treasurer of Tropical Park Race Track, will guarantee $625,000 from the live gate for the fighters' purses, with $400,000 going to Liston and $225,000 to Clay. He will have no interest in the closed-circuit theater television.

Television and other ancillary rights will be handled by Liston's organization, Intercontinental Promotions, Inc. The contract must be approved by William Faversham, the Louisville executive who heads the syndicate which handles Clay.

This is the second Liston title match slated for Miami Beach. He was to have had his second fight with Patterson here earlier this year, but after monumental mixups over contracts, postponements and a knee injury to the champion, the bout eventually was held in Las Vegas July 22. Liston scored another one-round knockout over Patterson.

Actually, this Liston-Clay fight was thought to have been set for Las Vegas — but the Nevada resort lost out.

A news conference was called for 12:30 p.m. EST Friday to announce the outcome of the fight negotiations. At that time, however, MacDonald was holed up with Nilon, Liston's attorney and others in a hotel room at Miami Beach.

By 1:30 p.m., a rumor had started that a hitch had developed in the dealings. Chris Dundee, Miami Beach promoter who will be associated with MacDonald in putting on the fight, commented nervously that "maybe we haven't got a match."

Finally, however, MacDonald and Nilon arrived, and with big smiles, announced that the match had been signed, sealed and delivered "with absolutely no loose ends."

Nilon reported that during the huddle, he telephoned Liston in Denver and "talked to him at great length," and also cleared all details with other directors of Intercontinental Promotions. "Liston was not only agreeable, he was happy about the whole thing," MacDonald said, "and, as you know, it isn't all

American Netters Heaved In Contest

MELBOURNE (AP) — The U.S. doubles champions U.S. Davis Cup team received and rated the best team in its sharpest setback since Friday when the U.S. captured its top doubles team of Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston.

"They played atrociously," Kelleher said. McKinley, the Wimbledon champion from St. Ann, Mo., showed no ill effects of the back injury which knocked him out of competition in the Sydney tournament nearly three weeks ago.

He bounded over the court throughout the five sets—jumping, sliding, scotching and hitting all out. Nevertheless, he still seemed not to have recovered full effectiveness of his service. He dropped his delivery twice in succession in the third set and again in the final game of the last set.

Ralston was well below the form he has shown in winning between defending champion Australia and the United States at the Adelaide Dec. 26-28. With Rod Laver now a pro, Fraser came back at the request of Captain Harry Hopman to try to save the trophy from the improved Americans. He figured to play the No. 2 singles behind Roy Emerson and team with Emerson in doubles.

Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., who has lost only one match since coming to Australia, plays Stolle for the men's singles crown Saturday.

The doubles final also will be played Saturday, sending Stolle and Hewitt against a pair of Britons, Mike Sangster and Roger Taylor, who won over Fraser and John Newcombe earlier, 8-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

The play of McKinley and Ralston here Friday night.

Edwin Preis Paces Bears To 34-13 Win

NEWELLTON (Special) — The Newellton Bears romped for 20 points in the fourth quarter here Friday to hand the Mamou Green Demons a 34-13 setback in the semi-finals of the class-B state football playoffs.

The Bears meet the winner of the Bell Chase-Lothrop game in the finals next week. Time and place for the tilt were undecided Friday night.

The Newellton victory can be summed up in a handful of tercepted Mamou quarterback Bob Marcantell's aerial on the Green Demon 30 and lugged it over for the last tally.

Preis also scored two tallies on 25 and two yard runs. The turning point came early in the game as Mamou attempted to kick the extra point following their second tally which would have knotted the score.

The whole Newellton line smashed through to block the kick and from this point on the Demons gambled the game away, never quite able to close the gap.

MIDDIES HAVE EDGE

Army-Navy Grabs Football Spotlight

UPI Sports Writer

The Army-Navy game, delayed one week and stripped of its sideline hijinx by the assassination of President Kennedy, heads a small but select program of college football games on Saturday.

Sharing the gridiron spotlight with quarterback Roger Staubach of Navy, who will be seeking to guide the Middies to their fifth straight victory over the Cadets, will be such individual stars as Don Trull of Baylor, the national offense leader, and Terry Isaacson of the Air Force who is aiming at the national scoring championship.

Navy, with an 8-1 record, is rated an 11-point favorite over Army (7-2) in their nationally televised clash which is certain to draw its usual 102,000 capacity crowd at Philadelphia Stadium.

Trull, who already has cracked the single-season yards-gained record by accounting for 2,115 yards in nine games, leads Baylor against SMU in another feature game. Baylor is a 7-point pick.

Isaacson needs a pair of touchdowns for the Air Force against Colorado to win the national scoring title for the regular season. The Falcon star has 74 points and stands third behind Cosmo Iacavacci of Princeton and Dave Casinelli of Mississippi State, each of whom has finished his season with 84 points. In this game, also delayed because of the death of the President, the Air Force is rated a 19-point favorite.

Old rivals Pitt and Penn State collide in a traditional game with bowl overtones. Indications are the Cotton Bowl will offer a bid — to face national champion Texas on New Year's Day — to the Army-Navy winner.

But if that game ends in a tie, the bid could go to Pitt, and Pitt also is a possibility for other bowls. The Panthers

Alcan Highway Wins Feature In N. O. Races

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Favored Alcan Highway scrambled home winner by a nose in the $2,500 six furlong feature at the Fair Grounds track Friday.

Highway, owned by Mrs. Joe W. Brown of New Orleans and Biloxi, Miss., paid $5.20, $3.60 and $2.80. His time was 1:12 2-5.

Howard Craig, rider of runner-up One Dot, filed a foul claim against jockey Heckmann of interference during the home stretch. Heckmann was aboard Alcan Highway.

The two horses bumped each other in the stretch drive. After viewing films of the race, track stewards overruled Craig's claim.

One Dot paid $5.40 and 13.80. County Chairman, who finished half a length behind One Dot, paid $3.40.

The 5,882 fans bet a total of $346,757 on the nine races.

Tribe Runners Try For Fourth League Crown

The distance runners of Northeast State bid for their fourth Gulf States Conference championship in the league meet in Hammond today.

The Indians are undefeated in their specialty this season and a victory today would give them more cross-country titles than any other school in the loop.

The four-mile run will begin at 10:30 today on the Southeastern College campus.

Currently the tribe runners are tied with McNeese for outright titles with two apiece and a share of the 1958 crown.

Northeast won the titles in 1956 and 1961 while the Demons took their share in 1956 and 1957.

Whatever the outcome of the race, Bob Groseloclose's young team has been the surprise of the league this year. After finishing fifth last year its lowest finish ever, the Indians have won six straight meets this fall.

The tribe will enter seven runners in the race for a medal given to the first 15 finishers.

Most of the Indians are given a good chance to finish in the 15. Bill Smith, sophomore from Haynesville is rated the top tribe entry.

Smith, sidelined most of last year with an injury, finished 24th in the meet last year. This year he has not finished below third, taking two firsts, three seconds and a third in the Turkey Day run in New Orleans.

Bill White of Dodson has finished second, third twice, fourth and sixth in dual or triangular meets and second among Indian runners in New Orleans.

Jim Bodin of Franklin has finished second, third fourth twice, fifth and third on the team at New Orleans.

Gayland LeBlanc of Lake Arthur has a sixth, three sevenths and 14th to his credit, plus a sixth on the team in the Turkey Day event. David Hankins of Oak Grove has a fifth, sixth, eighth, 10th and 12th plus a fourth place spot at New Orleans.

Tom Brown of Hallsville, Tex., was ninth twice and 11th in three dual or triangular meets and seventh among the Indians in New Orleans. Barry Harwell of Shreveport was sixth, eighth, 11th twice and 15th plus a fifth among the Indians in New Orleans.

Hankins is a junior with the most experience of the team. Smith, White, LeBlanc, and Brown are sophomores, and Bodin and Harwell are freshmen.

Edwin Preis Paces Bears To 34-13 Win

NEWELLTON (Special) —The Newellton Bears romped for 20 points in the fourth quarter here Friday to hand the Mamou Green Demons a 34-14 setback in the semi-finals of the class-B state football playoffs.

The Bears meet the winner of the Bell Chase-Lockport game in the finals next week. Time and place for the tilt were undecided Friday night.

The Newellton victory can be summed up in a handful of intercepted Mamou quarterback Bob Marcantell's aerial on the Green Demon 30 and lugged it over for the last tally.

Preis also scored two tallies on 25 and two yard runs.

The turning point came early in the game as Mamou attempted to kick the extra point following their second tally which would have knotted the score.

The whole Newellton line smashed through to block the kick and from this point on the Demons gambled the game away, never quite able to close the gap.

MIDDIES HAVE EDGE

Army-Navy Grabs Football Spotlight

UPI Sports Writer

The Army-Navy game, delayed one week and stripped of its sideline hijinx by the assassination of President Kennedy, heads a small but select program of college football games on Saturday.

Sharing the gridiron spotlight with quarterback Roger Staubach of Navy, who will be seeking to guide the Middies to their fifth straight victory over the Cadets, will be such individual stars as Don Trull of Baylor, the national offense leader, and Terry Isaacson of the Air Force who is aiming at the national scoring championship.

Navy, with an 8-1 record, is rated an 11-point favorite over Army (7-2) in their nationally televised clash which is certain to draw its usual 102,000 capacity crowd at Philadelphia Stadium.

Trull, who already has cracked the single-season yards-gained record by accounting for 2,115 yards in nine games, leads Baylor against SMU in another feature game. Baylor is a 7-point pick.

Isaacson needs a pair of touchdowns for the Air Force against Colorado to win the national scoring title for the regular season. The Falcon star has 74 points and stands third behind Cosmo Iacavacci of Princeton and Dave Casinelli of Memphis State, each of whom has finished his season with 84 points. In this game, also delayed because of the death of the President, the Air Force is rated a 19-point favorite.

Old rivals Pitt and Penn State collide in a traditional game with bowl overtones.

Indications are the Cotton Bowl will offer a bid — to face national champion Texas on New Year's Day — to the Army Navy winner.

But if that game ends in a tie, the bid could go to Pitt, and Pitt also is a possibility for other bowls. The Panthers

Alcan Highway Wins Feature In N. O. Races

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Favored Alcan Highway scrambled home winner by a nose in the $2,500 six furlong feature at the Fair Grounds track Friday.

Highway, owned by Mrs. Joe W. Brown of New Orleans and Biloxi, Miss., paid $5.20, $3.60 and $2.80. His time was 1:12 2-5.

Howard Craig, rider of runner-up One Dot, filed a foul claim accusing jockey Heckmann of interference during the home stretch. Heckmann was aboard Alcan Highway.

The two horses bumped each other in the stretch drive.

After viewing films of the race, track stewards overruled Craig's claim.

One Dot paid $5.40 and 13.80. County Chairman, who finished half a length behind One Dot, paid $3.40.

words — "The Preis was right." The Preis being halfback Edwin Preis who single-handedly scored 27 points in the hard fought battle that was undecided until the final period.

Leading by a single point going into the final stanza, Newellton's fine quarterback Allen Bozeman limbered up his passing arm. First the all-district candidate hit end Allen Parker on a 40 yarder strike that carried to the Mamou 11. On the next play Bozeman hit end Paul Higginbotham for the tally.

Bozeman ran the point and the Bears took a 21-13 lead. It was all they needed.

But Mamou fumbled after moving the ball to the Newellton seven, and the Bears moved it out to the 41. Bozeman hurled again and it was Preis who gathered it in to complete a 59-yard touchdown play. Preis again ran the extra point.

Tribe Athletics Main Feature In Magazine

An article on Northeast Louisiana State College is featured in the latest issue of a national sports magazine, "Coach And Athlete."

The article, prepared by the Northeast State News Bureau, contains general information on and history of the college and is primarily devoted to the school's athletic program.

Pictures accompanying the article in the November issue include an aerial shot of the campus and photographs of Northeast's two world record holders in track, John Pennell and Don Styron; football captains Willie Ragan and Stanley Starr; Athletic Director Jack Rowan and the coaching staff with the Gulf States Conference All - Sports Trophy won last spring; Cherie Martin, Miss Majorette of America; and Northeast President George T. Walker.

Northeast State Track Coach Bob Groseclose and Pennell were featured in an earlier issue of the magazine as "Coach and Athlete of the Month."

VICTORIAN SEMIFINALS

American Netters Heaved In Contest

MELBOURNE (AP) —The U.S. Davis Cup team received its sharpest setback since reaching Australia Friday when its top doubles team of Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston bowed in the semifinals of the Victorian Tennis Championships.

They were beaten by Fred Stolle and Bob Hewitt, Australia's No. 2 combination, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6.

Australia's cup hopes also suffered a blow when the veteran Neale Fraser turned up with a painful attack of tennis elbow in his semifinal singles match against Stolle.

Winning with every shot after taking the first set, the former U.S. and Wimbledon champion was beaten 4-6, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3.

Grave doubts were raised that he will be able to compete in the Davis Cup challenge round between defending champion Australia and the United States at Adelaide Dec. 26-28.

With Rod Laver now a pro, Fraser came back at the request of Captain Harry Hopman to try to save the trophy from the improved Americans. He figured to play the No. 2 singles behind Roy Emerson and team with Emerson in doubles.

Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., who has lost only one match since coming to Australia, plays Stolle for the men's singles crown Saturday.

The doubles final also will be played Saturday, sending Stolle and Hewitt against a pair of Britons, Mike Sangster and Roger Taylor, who won over Fraser and John Newcombe earlier, 8-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

The play of McKinley and Ralston, U.S. doubles champions and rated the best team in the world, was a big disappointment to Bob Kelleher, the U.S. captain.

"They played atrociously," Kelleher said.

McKinley, the Wimbledon champion from St. Ann, Mo., showed no ill effects of the back injury which knocked him out of competition in the Sydney tournament nearly three weeks ago.

He bounded over the court throughout the five sets—jumping, sliding, scooting and hitting all out. Nevertheless, he still seemed not to have recovered full effectiveness of his service.

He dropped his delivery twice in succession in the third set and again in the final game of the last set.

Ralston was well below the form he has shown in winning the New South Wales singles title at Sydney and gaining the finals of the South Australian tournament at Adelaide.

The Californian appeared to lack concentration. He made errors on the simplest shots but at other times he flashed streaks of brilliance that drew cheers from the Kooyong Club gallery of 6,000.

Sangster and Taylor are the first British players to reach a tennis final here since Fred Perry and Pat Hughes did it in 1934.

Oakland Signs John Williamson

RUSTON (Special) —John Aillet said, "who could make it professionally as either an offensive center or linebacker."

One pro scout said flatly that Williamson was the second best linebacker in the nation. Another said his team was interested in getting Williamson, whether he is used on offense or defense.

Williamson and Sammy Joe Odom from Northwestern State college have been invited to play in the Challenge bowl in Corpus Christi, Tex., which pits the Southwest All-Stars against the National Football League.

Tech Coach Joe Aillet compares Williamson with Leo Sanford, who played 10 years of pro football with the Chicago Cardinals and Baltimore Colts after graduating from the Ruston school. "Williamson is one of the few players I have seen,"

Byrd Captures Cross Country At West Monroe

Powerful Byrd High walked off with all the honors in the first cross-country of the prep season at West Monroe Friday.

The Jackets took the first five places all to themselves, leaving the hosting Rebs battling the third member of the meet, Neville, for the second spot. Neville won it.

Byrd had the lowest possible score of 15 points. Neville took second with 50 and the Rebels were third with 56.

Thad Price of Byrd was the first place winner, touring the two-mile track and cross country course in 8:47.

Don West of Neville took sixth place in 9:00 and Rett Porter was eighth with 9:15.

Buddy Adams of West Monroe led his team with a seventh place finishing for a 9:14 time.

Byrd also won a junior varsity run with 19 points, the Rebels were second with 36 and Neville third with 66.

DEAR ABBY

Buy Sturdy Furniture To Solve The Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem for which there seems to be no solution. I asked my minister, and he just laughed and said, "That's a good one for Abby!" We are very friendly with another couple and we visit back and forth very often. When they come to our house they bring along an in-law who recently lost his wife, and is lonely. This in-law weighs about 400 pounds. He is a very nice person and we truly enjoy his company but, Abby, our furniture is beginning to break down under his weight. Can we diplomatically ask our friends not to bring this man to our home, and explain why? We have had to replace the springs in our best chair, and now the other one is going. Please help us.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: There are no words diplomatic enough to salvage a friends to leave a lonely in-law at home because he's too heavy for one's furniture. Go to a second-hand store and find the sturdiest and least expensive chair available. Buy it and call it "his" chair. No one will care what it looks like. They'll love you for it.

DEAR ABBY: We are not kids. I am 25 and he is 29. He says he wants to marry me, but chairman. Members brought wrapped toys which will be delivered for Christmas to an underprivileged family of nine children, along with other items for Christmas.

The sorority's annual Christmas party and covered dish is planned for Saturday, December 14 at the VFW Hall, at 7 p.m. A gift exchange will also be held.

Following a short program by Mrs. Hubka a Christmas bazaar was held with Mrs. Norman Smith serving as auctioneer. Refreshments were served at conclusion of the evening by the hostess to Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Ted Carter, Mrs. Bob DeMoss, Mrs. Donald D. Gaudet, Mrs. Gossett, Mrs. Bill Hammock, Mrs. Chuck Mahoney, Miss Toni Hubka, Mrs. Freeland May, Mrs. Perry Miers, Miss Gyl Rowell, Mrs. Bernard Sanders and Mrs. Smith.

Answers Are Given For Homemakers

By BETTY PEPIS

Q: There will be a wedding in the family and I need help in redecorating my living room. Must keep medium green wall-to-wall carpet, two chairs in an ivory ground with stitch design in beige and a moss green recliner. What color for walls, draperies and upholstery on sofa?

A: Paint walls, woodwork and ceiling ivory and select a print in an ivory ground with shades of green, clear blue and lemon yellow for the draperies and also for a slip cover on sofa. Or, sofa could be soft green with toss pillows in print as well as some solid blue and yellow. Have blue and yellow for accessories.

Q: Please help me to decide what to have for draperies, bedspread and scatter rugs for my two teenage daughters' bedroom. Three walls are a pale heather and one is wallpapered in a white ground with a lavender colored rose, green leaves. Room received much sunlight.

A: A narrow stripe in heather and white would be good for draperies and dust ruffles. Bedspreads could be white and scatter rugs in green.

Q: Walls in living room are a horizon blue. What color for rug, slip covers and draperies? I'd like the draperies to be in a print and use solid colors for the slipcovers except for one chair which would be in the print.

A: A soft, muted gold color would go well with the blue walls. Have drapery print in a blue ground with gold, yellow and clear green. Slip cover the sofa and one chair in gold with toss pillows in yellow, green and blue.

Q: Furniture in living room is maple, sofa is toast colored tweed and rug is pale sandalwood. What color do you suggest for walls and two identical chairs? Instead of draperies, I thought of shutters to cover upper half of two windows that are side by side. What color curtains for bottom half of windows?

A: Paint walls a pale curry and cover the two chairs in a rich curry. For unified look, have shutters painted color of wall, at lower half of windows too. Use half or cafe curtains on brass rods. Have these in a curry cotton with perhaps a simple border design. Or, curtains could be in a small scale Provincial print in a pale curry ground with fresh green, white and beige.

"SAY WHEN"

DEAR SAY: If Dad's embrace is innocently offensive tell him so, and offer your cheek. There are no set rules. That's a family affair.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KAREN: He sounds like a "swell" boy — with a head to match. Ask him to return your bracelet.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Catholic Ceremony Unites Miss Accardo, Mr. Scalia

The Rev. George W. Martinez celebrated the nuptial mass at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving morning at Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church which united in marriage Miss Pat Accardo and Joseph Francis Scalia. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Nelms of Monroe and Vincent Accardo of New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Scalia are the parents of the groom.

White gladioli were used on the altar for the double ring ceremony which was preceded by nuptial music offered by the Rev. Robert Inzina, organist and vocalists, Misses Donnie and Suzie Inzina.

The bride was given in marriage by J. B. Nelms. Her wedding gown was fashioned of white taffeta over lace with a lace bodice, sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. V. J. Accardo of New Orleans served as her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Her dress was of deep pink velvet with a bell skirt, and she wore a small circular velvet headpiece with a short matching veil. The bridesmaids, Miss Veronica Worley and Miss Mary Farley, were dressed identically to the honor attendant.

Flower girls were little Misses Judy Morrell and Lisa Banks. Leon Miletello Jr. served as best man, and groomsmen were V. J. Accardo and Clifford Worley. Vic Pizzuto of Baton Rouge and Salvatore Fontana were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Nelms wore an ice blue brocade two piece ensemble with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Scalia was dressed in a moth colored silk two piece outfit with an orchid corsage.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip to Shreveport, the bride was wearing a green velvet suit with a gray fur collar and gray accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Scalia attended Ouachita Parish High School and is continuing her studies at Bolton High School in Alexandria where she is a senior. Her sorority is Beta Delta.

Mr. Scalia graduated from St. Matthew's High School and attended Louisiana State University. He is now serving with the United States Air Force, stationed at England Air Force Base in Alexandria.

Included in the out-of-town guests, here for the wedding, were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Pizzuto of New Orleans, the bride's maternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Pizzuto of Baton Rouge.

Miss Janet Corley Feted At Sunday Afternoon Tea

Mrs. Oscar Cloyd and her daughter, Mrs. Bennie Andrews entertained with a tea shower last Sunday afternoon as a prenuptial courtesy complimentary to Miss Janet Corley, bride-elect of the Rev. Billy Roark. Mr. and Mrs. James P. Corley and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roark are the parents of the engaged couple, who will be married on December 21 at the West Monroe Free Methodist Church.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cloyd on Maridale Drive was the setting for the bridal party, for which Miss Corley chose a pink wool dress. A pink camellia corsage with white and pink wedding bells, pink ribbon and net was presented to the honoree by her hostesses, who also gave her a gift of an electric appliance.

Miss Jamie Corley asked the guests who called between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. to sign the guest book, which was placed on a table with a white memory candle and pink heart picture frames.

Miss Marilyn Roark presided at the gift table placed beneath a chandelier from which hung a white pleated wedding bell with pink and white flowers and white love birds and pink and white streamers bearing the names of the engaged couple in silver letters. A cloth of white with pink flowers covered the table itself, which was outlined with streamers caught up at the corners with pink pom-pom bows.

Pink camellias with natural foliage and pink ribbon waterfalls were used in an arrangement to center the refreshment table placed in the den, where Mrs. Dave Corley and Mrs. Clyde Medaries poured and served.

Approximately 200 guests called during the afternoon hours.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We don't stay young by the "skin of our teeth" but by the skin of our body. Our epidermis is the largest organ of our body. When we think of skin we usually think of the complexion, but the skin performs many important tasks essential to life.

Our outer coating helps regulate body temperature and plays a vital part in throwing off waste materials. It is also a sensory organ and alerts the brain to any body injury. It acts as a waterproof covering which preserves body fluids.

Circulation is important to the beauty of the complexion as well as to health. Anything which stirs it up leads to better nourished tissues and less waste materials in the body.

There has been some evidence that an increase in surface circulation is an aid to health. I have known several older persons who felt that they had benefitted greatly by the habit of rubbing themselves daily after their bath, thus causing the skin to become pink.

Some folks are benefitted by a wet salt rub. Others simply use a bath towel. The idea is to make the body pink all over once a day. This is a good beauty routine also. The lower part of the skin is growing and creating new cells constantly. These push outward causing the dead cells at the surface to slough off.

Dear Heloise:

A safe way to mail a small glass article or anything fragile is to use a tin can from which the lid has not been completely removed.

Put the fragile article down inside the tin can and stuff newspapers around it, then push the lid down.

The glass will not rattle and it can be shipped safely.

If you can have a removable and replaceable lid, then it's far better. Tin weighs so little that one saves on postage, too because it takes less boxing filler.

Dear Heloise:

To tempt lazy appetites, I tried this version of a "pig in a blanket".

Pre-heat the hot dogs (weiners or frankfurters), then with your fingers reshape a canned biscuit to a sort of oblong shape.

Wrap this around the warm hot dog, pinching the sides of the biscuit together to seal it.

Place on a cookie sheet with the pinched side down and bake just as you would any ordinary biscuit! Serve these "pigs in blankets" with a large helping of either catsup or mustard.

Dear Heloise:

Venetian blinds can be used most effectively for displaying Christmas cards! Just slant them a little bit and as your cards "come in" place them between the venetian blind slats.

Dear Heloise:

For those who like to have different Christmas decorations on their doors, fences and tops of their houses for Christmas, here's what I did:

Take any kind of a flower pot (plastic or otherwise), cover it with foil so that it resembles a bell. Take a piece of string, tie a cork or a piece of wood on one end of the string, then thread the string through the hole in the bottom of the pot and tie it wherever you wish. This makes an adorable bell.

paper cups, when covered with foil, are absolutely beautiful. These can be sprayed with hair spray or Christmas snow. Three or four of these cups may be tied together on one string... making a beautiful centerpiece for the front door, especially when laid on a spray of cedar.

Dear Heloise:

I keep the windshield on my automobile free from rain and sleet by using a mixture of one cup of water and about two ounces of glycerine. I keep this in one of those little plastic squirt bottles.

One can either spray this directly on the windshield and wipe with a piece of cloth or spray it on the cloth itself and wipe the windshield.

Mrs. R. T. G.

Dear Heloise:

A timely tip for young mothers:

To fend off the inevitable and constant query of "how long is it until Christmas?"...

Cut out small Christmas trees from gay parcel wrappings or use Christmas seals. Attach one "tree" for each day (I commend at least seven trees) to the wall in the child's bedroom and allow the child to pull a "tree" down each night!

The little one can hardly wait for bedtime so he can pull down his "tree" and can plainly see how long it is until Christmas night!

Catholic Ceremony Unites Miss Accardo, Mr. Scalia

The Rev. George W. Martinez celebrated the nuptial mass at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving morning at Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church which united in marriage Miss Pat Accardo and Joseph Francis Scalia. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Nelms of Monroe and Vincent Accardo of New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Scalia are the parents of the groom.

White gladioli were used on the altar for the double ring ceremony which was preceded by nuptial music offered by the Rev. Robert Inzina, organist and vocalists, Misses Donnie and Suzie Inzina.

The bride was given in marriage by J. B. Nelms. Her wedding gown was fashioned of white taffeta over lace with a lace bodice, sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. V. J. Accardo of New Orleans served as her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Her dress was of deep pink velvet with a bell skirt, and she wore a small circular velvet headpiece with a short matching veil. The bridesmaids, Miss Veronica Worley and Miss Mary Farley, were dressed identically to the honor attendant.

Flower girls were little Misses Judy Morrell and Lisa Banks. Leon Miletello Jr. served as best man, and groomsmen were V. J. Accardo and Clifford Worley. Vic Pizzuto of Baton Rouge and Salvatore Fontana were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Nelms wore an ice blue brocade two piece ensemble with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Scalia was dressed in a moth colored silk two piece outfit with an orchid corsage.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip to Shreveport, the bride was wearing a green velvet suit with a gray fur collar and gray accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Scalia attended Ouachita Parish High School and is continuing her studies at Bolton High School in Alexandria where she is a senior. Her sorority is Beta Delta.

Mr. Scalia graduated from St. Matthew's High School and attended Louisiana State University. He is now serving with the United States Air Force, stationed at England Air Force Base in Alexandria.

Included in the out-of-town guests, here for the wedding, were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Pizzuto of New Orleans, the bride's maternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Pizzuto of Baton Rouge.

Miss Janet Corley Feted At Sunday Afternoon Tea

Mrs. Oscar Cloyd and her daughter, Mrs. Bennie Andrews entertained with a tea shower last Sunday afternoon as a prenuptial courtesy complimentary to Miss Janet Corley, bride-elect of the Rev. Billy Roark. Mr. and Mrs. James P. Corley and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roark are the parents of the engaged couple, who will be married on December 21 at the West Monroe Free Methodist Church.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cloyd on Maridale Drive was the setting for the bridal party, for which Miss Corley chose a pink wool dress. A pink camellia corsage with white and pink wedding bells, pink ribbon and net was presented to the honoree by her hostesses, who also gave her a gift of an electric appliance.

Miss Jamie Corley asked the guests who called between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. to sign the guest book, which was placed on a table with a white memory candle and pink heart picture frames.

Pink camellias with natural foliage and pink ribbon waterfalls were used in an arrangement to center the refreshment table placed in the den, where Mrs. Dave Corley and Mrs. Clyde Medaries poured and served.

Kennon-the only proven qualified candidate

Judge Robert F. Kennon put Louisiana on the soundest fiscal foundation in its history. Kennon increased Old Age pensions and Teachers' salaries while reducing taxes! Industrial payrolls increased and over 30,000 permanent new jobs were created during Kennon's 1952-56 administration which left a record breaking surplus of sixty one million dollars! A man as known by the company he keeps, and by his record. Judge Robert Kennon has an outstanding record and his ticket is composed of men of the highest calibre.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD

● KENNON'S RECORD...

New industries attracted to Louisiana during the Kennon administration created 30,000 permanent new jobs more than were created by the two following administrations combined.

● KENNON'S PLEDGE TODAY...

To personally conduct an aggressive program of industrial development so that new and better jobs will be created. To use Louisiana products and Louisiana workers on Louisiana projects.

● KENNON'S RECORD...

—Governor Kennon set up citizen boards composed of outstanding businessmen to assure non-political control of major state spending agencies. His budgetary control measure was passed by the 1952 legislature. By eliminating waste, the Kennon administration left a surplus of over 61 million dollars—even though taxes were lowered.

● KENNON'S PLEDGE TODAY...

—To strengthen citizen boards and again remove politics from spending. To prevent future attempts to address board members out of office for political reasons.

● KENNON'S RECORD...

By Amendment (Number 17, ratified November 4, 1952), every community in the state was given a Constitutional guarantee for local government... and protected against legislative interference.

● KENNON'S PLEDGE TODAY...

To continue to uphold community independence, especially in financial and administrative matters. And to support, with all his strength, State Sovereignty against the Federal power grab.

● KENNON'S RECORD...

By increasing tax exemptions to $5,000 for couples (Act 3, 1952), the average family's state income tax was reduced by $100 per year. The gasoline tax was reduced two cents per gallon. The State Constitution was amended to require a 2/3 vote of the legislature to raise taxes.

● KENNON'S PLEDGE TODAY...

To avoid any need for tax increases by business-like administration of the big spending agencies and by eliminating waste.

● KENNON'S RECORD...

Governor Kennon maintained the old age pension, and increased old age and welfare payments in all categories.

● KENNON'S PLEDGE TODAY...

To effect a realistic welfare program, providing for the needy and the improvement of moral standards. To give no aid to parents for additional illegitimate children.

● KENNON'S RECORD...

Governor Kennon's Civil Service Bill (Amendment 1, ratified by the people November 4, 1952) reinstated Civil Service for state employees by constitutional amendment, assured permanent protection and better pay, based on the "fair-to-everybody" merit system.

● KENNON'S PLEDGE TODAY...

To keep politics out of civil service. To institute a strong code of ethics for all state employees including those in high position. To provide a central listing of state employees.

● KENNON'S RECORD...

The minimum salary schedule for teachers was increased by a much-needed 10 per cent. The 1952 legislature made substantial increases in educational funds for school operation and construction. There were extensive capital improvements for colleges and universities.

● KENNON'S PLEDGE TODAY...

Recognizing the constant increasing demands for better education and more vocational training, to commit all possible resources to improve education and vocational training, and provide for increased needs at all levels.

● KENNON'S RECORD...

—Governor Kennon made voting machines available to every precinct in the state (Act 4, 1953 Extra Session), thus giving each registered voter complete freedom and privacy of political expression.

Education

● KENNON'S RECORD...

The minimum salary schedule for teachers was increased by a much-needed 10 per cent. The 1952 legislature made substantial increases in educational funds for school operation and construction. There were extensive capital improvements for colleges and universities.

Judge Sentences Local Negro To Jail For Assault

Judge Hylmer S. Parker imposed a 90-day jail term on a Monroe Negro for aggravated assault in Fourth District court Friday while appointing a sanity commission for another charged with murder.

Charles B. Williams, 1112 Powell Ave., drew the jail term while the sanity commission is expected to report April 8, 1964, on Leon Callaway, Negro, charged with murder of Robert Johnson Aug. 31. He pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity.

Joseph "Bubba" Everett, Negro, 203 Morton St., Monroe, pleaded guilty to simple rape and was remanded for sentencing until Jan. 6 and a presentence investigation ordered by the court.

A Jonesboro man, James Roy Henning, pleaded not guilty to two counts of aggravated battery and trial date was set for April 8. An arraignment date of Dec. 13 was set for two men, Dolphus L. Dulin, Texas, and Richard D. Wilder, Shreveport, both charged with simple burglary.

A Rayville man drew three sentences of six-months per charge on three counts of theft by issuing a worthless check. Judge Parker later suspended the terms on Charles V. Robinson, and placed him on probation.

The judge sentenced a Downs, La. man, Donald T. Bryan, of Rt. 2, to 125 days in jail for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages as a second offender and another 30 days in jail for driving with a revoked license. The judge also fined him $200 and costs on the DWI count. Another man, Monroe Hilton, Rt. 2, Monroe, drew the same fine of $200 and sentences of 125 and 30 days on similar counts.

Out of 13 other DWI cases handled, seven were fined $200 and costs of court for DWI. They include Franklin A. Bingham, Rt. 4, West Monroe; James D. McLemore, 505 S. 2nd St., Monroe; Alvin Moore, 403 Harper St., West Monroe; Robert Hall; William E. Thomason, 808 Wheelis, West Monroe; Levene Woods, 407 Caliente St., Ruston; and Travis O'Rear, Center, Tex.

Three DWI cases that were continued were against Kenneth Henry McQuillin, General Delivery, Choudrant; Billy Ray Causey, Rt. 1, West Monroe; and Thomas L. Virgetts, Baton Rouge. Causey will also be tried on that date for driving with a revoked license and Virgetts will be tried for following too closely. Trial on Negro Willie R. Star, 4006 Church St., for DWI and improper brakes was reset for Jan. 24, next year, while Dewey R. Hinton, Rt. 3, West Monroe, forfeited a bond for DWI. Ruel Rathmel Wood, Rt. 1, Eros, was remanded on bond for DWI for trial Dec. 9. Worley Reed Martin was fined $50 and costs for reckless driving and another $100 for illegal possession of central nervous system stimulant.

A number of other cases were handled involving minor counts as disturbing the peace, following too closely, improper lights, and simple obstruction of the highway.

Oddity At Aquatic Is Described

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Its eyes alone — all four of them — would make anableps one of the strangest fish at Steinhart Aquarium. But it has other traits equally odd.

Dr. Darl S. Herald, curator of the California Academy of Sciences faculty, related some of them when newly arrived anableps were put on public display recently.

The fish cruises just under the surface of fresh waters of southern Mexico, Central America and northern South America, looking simultaneously into the air and water on each side.

A band divides the eye at the water line. Separate lenses and retinas register objects according to whether they are viewed in the water or the air.

Eggs hatch within the female, the young being born alive. Female anableps at the aquarium have given birth to one to four offspring, each measuring 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches, Dr. Herald said. Adult fish usually measure 6 to 8 inches.

They can swim across the water surface with lightning speed and shoot into the air like a rocket. This speed, combined with extreme nervousness, is often fatal for captive anableps. Several at Steinhart have killed themselves by ramming the side of their tank when spectators tapped on the glass, Dr. Herald said. Three of seven in one tank died this way while being photographed.

I WILL Appreciate Your Vote and Support

Many of you will remember that I ran for police juror from Ward Five eight years ago and that I ran a good race.

I have always been interested in the affairs of our ward, parish and state, and my defeat eight years ago did not cause me to lose any of that interest.

Four years ago many of my friends urged me to run again for police juror but I had financial and family commitments that would not permit me to make the race.

During the past several months these same friends urged me to run again because they remembered that I ran a good race in 1956 and that I had become increasingly interested in good government.

Eight years ago in my campaign I emphasized the importance of more hard-surfaced roads and a uniform, planned drainage system. Some progress has been made, but not enough. I do not mean to be critical of any individual members of the police jury, as I feel sure they did the best they could. However, I believe the people of our ward are entitled to more consideration than they have received, especially when we realize what a lion's share of taxes we pay.

Everyone knows that our parish and state are facing four years of danger to our way of life. For that reason, every political unit should be comprised of men known for their courage and strength of conviction.

I was born and raised in Ouachita Parish, and am a member of Ouachita Valley Local 364 of the Paper Makers Union. I am proud of the fact that I have been employed at Olin for 30 years. I have had to work hard all my life, and I have a great understanding of what is required to make a living under trying circumstances. I graduated from Ouachita Parish High School in 1933 and I have always been a strong believer in education. I do not think that I am any more capable of being a good police juror than thousands of my fellow citizens. The only difference is that I am willing to run for office and if I am elected I will work hard to be a good police juror.

Philosophy of government: The principle of the predominance of states rights in all phases of our government not specifically relinquished by the states under terms and provisions of the federal constitution should be respected and preserved. Advocate democratic principles of our forefathers. Am opposed to integration of the races. Believe that parish and local government powers and authorities should be strengthened and preserved. The executive and legislative branches of the state government should be subservient to the over-all best interests of the state. Platform: Basically, I stand for a better government in Louisiana. I will stress economy in government and business-like conduct of the state's affairs. In addition, I will work toward reducing the power of the governor and will continue my opposition to integration, as well as continued opposition to the federal government encroachment of states rights. I favor increased pay for school teachers to a scale commensurate with their dignity, competence and responsibility.

NEW YORK (UPI)—National Car Rental System, Inc., announced it is establishing a network of car rental affiliates serving 18 European countries and extending into the Middle East, with about 200 locations.

have given birth to one to four offspring, each measuring 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches, Dr. Herald said. Adult fish usually measure 6 to 8 inches.

They can skim across the water surface with lightning speed and shoot into the air like a rocket. This speed, combined with extreme nervousness, is often fatal for captive anableps. Several at Steinhart have killed themselves by ramming the side of their tank when spectators tapped on the glass, Dr. Herald said. Three of seven in one tank died this way while being photographed.

Children's Dreams Come True In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—For a day New York was a city of children's dreams come true Friday.

A 6-year-old boy was promised the first steps of his life. Two Ohio youngsters got a subway train of their own. And 1,100 children from orphanages and welfare homes were turned into Macy's toy department with $5 each.

Young Damian Neusser, the national poster boy of the United Cerebral Palsy Association, will leave a hospital Saturday with both legs in casts but with the best Christmas present of his life.

Doctors said that when the casts are removed in a month he will be able to walk without crutches or braces for the first time.

The mother of the Manhattan youngster, the fifth of six children, said her husband, Albert Neusser, hoped that Damian would grow up to be an engineer like himself. But Damian remarked, "Oh, no. I'm going to be a doctor."

Robbie and Kerrie Whitaker of Cincinnati, the 1963 muscular dystrophy poster children, were brought here from Ohio by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Leigh Whitaker, for their subway ride.

Robbie, 7, said he had been on a "real train," but never a subway.

Cradled in the arms of policemen, the youngsters were carried aboard a new, 10-car train at Grand Central Station for a subway trip to the 1964-65 World's Fair site and back.

Their wheel chairs went with them in the head car and the nine cars behind were empty.

The Macy's department store Christmas shopping spree was the 13th annual treat for orphans and welfare home children. They came from 19 institutions in the metropolitan area.

Most proved to be judicious shoppers, carefully looking over the merchandise before parting with their cash. But in any crowd there's a spendthrift.

One, 11-year-old Carlos, quickly bought a $4.97 chemistry set and announced happily to his pals, "Hey, I'm broke!"

Doretta, a tiny, 7-year-old blonde, wandered for more than an hour with her $5 bill pinned to her pink dress. Then she bought two dolls for $4 and plunked them into the Santa bag, which already contained a doll.

What was she going to do with all the dolls?

Surprised at adult imperfection, she patiently replied: "I'm going to take them home and play with them."

Rights Fight Truce Comes Temporarily

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new fight which flared up over Senate rules—with civil rights implications back of it—subsided Thursday in a temporary truce which may last into January.

The scrap had threatened for a time to complicate plans to wind up the 1963 Congress session by Dec. 20. Southern Senators had raised filibuster signals.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., an advocate of what he calls "strong" civil rights legislation and who had helped to engineer the fight, waved it to an apparent end in a Senate speech.

Clark said he had been persuaded that "it would not be in the public interest" to get involved in a filibuster that might hold up the passage of bills the Senate leadership wants passed. He sparked absolutely no enthusiasm with a suggestion that the Senate remain in session "all night and all day tomorrow" to test out whether the Southerners really were determined to wage a filibuster fight.

Johnson Sends Soothing Letter To Dallas Girl

DALLAS (UPI)—President Johnson sent a reassuring letter to an 11-year-old Dallas girl Friday who had written him expressing fears that her city might be given a bad name because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

The letter was addressed to Fern Butler of 1522 Gillette Circle. Her letter to Mr. Johnson said:

"I am very sorry that Mr. Kennedy has been shot. But I know you will be a good President. I live in Dallas, Texas and I am 11 years old but that doesn't matter now. I would love to receive a letter from you. I hope the death of Mr. Kennedy won't give Dallas a bad name as my cousin said he thought it would."

"I hope we have you and many more presidents who will visit in Dallas despite what happened on this day Nov. 22."

President Johnson told her "what happens to the reputation of Dallas in the future depends on its citizens—particularly you and your cousin and all the children and young people of your city."

Johnson urged her to "learn the lesson of love."

"If we can all be a little more tolerant of each other and a little less ready to hate—if you can grow up learning to get along with and respect all kinds of people and to avoid saying mean things about them even when you disagree—then your city and every city in this wonderful country of ours will be a better place in which to live."

ENGLISH IN MASS
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Joseph Cardinal Ritter, just returned from the Ecumenical Council in Rome, said Friday he thought use of English in the Mass might start "shortly after the first of the year."

Cardinal Ritter said use of English would begin "when an English version can be agreed upon, at least temporarily."

The Pennsylvanian finally agreed to a procedure for a more or less painless means of shelling the whole issue. Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana obtained unanimous consent to adjourn the Senate until Monday instead of recessing.

The adjournment automatically washes out the motion to lay before the Senate a resolution which would have been the centerpiece of the rules row.

The resolution itself was non-controversial. It would create a special Senate-House committee to recommend improvements in the organization and operations of both chambers, but not to discuss their rules. Clark—who wants rules changes, including some which would make it easier to choke off filibusters—had disclosed he would move to empower the committee to study the two chambers' rules. This promptly set off the Southern senators' plans to fight it.

Most Believe Others Aided JFK Assassin

NEW YORK (AP)—A Gallup poll reports that the majority of the American public believes that the assassin of President John F. Kennedy had help.

The poll of "adults across the nation" showed that 52 per cent believed some group or element also was responsible, 29 per cent believed the assassin acted on his own, and 19 per cent were uncertain.

Kennedy was shot to death on Nov. 22 in Dallas, Tex. Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, charged with the crime, was in turn slain. Jack Ruby, a nightclub operator, is accused of the Oswald death.

George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, which conducted the poll, said in the Herald Tribune that few people at present single out any specific group as being involved.

"Only about one person in a hundred thinks Russia, Cuba or the Communists" may have been involved in the assassination," Gallup said. "Almost no one mentions the 'extreme right,' or segregationists, as responsible."

"Of those who think the plot may be deeper than has yet come to light, views vary all the way from the belief that the assassination was part of a major conspiracy to persons who think the assassin was hired by another person to carry out his ends."

HIP FRACTURE FROM FALLING

Fractured hip is one of the most serious accidents encountered by elderly persons. It is a shocking ordeal but not as serious as it was a few generations ago. Improvements in technique have reduced the period of disability and lessened complications. With modern treatment, there is an 85 per cent chance of a good bony union.

When an older person falls, and complains of the hip, don't try to lift him to his feet, as there always is a possibility of a fracture. Instead, call a physician for emergency care; he will immobilize the part to prevent movement of the fractured ends.

The hip is a ball-and-socket joint. The upper part of the thigh bone (neck of femur) is the ball portion; it is shaped like the knob end of a cane. The break occurs usually in this vicinity and the separation robs the rounded end of its blood supply. This in turn interferes with healing and explains why the fracture must be set as soon as possible.

Some broken hips heal spontaneously via bed rest; others can be set by manipulation and the application of a large cast. But the majority respond faster when the surgeon turns carpenter and utilizes nails, pins, screws, bones, or wires to join the severed parts. The hardware allows more activity, including early trips out of bed. This adds to the comfort and health of the victim.

Fractures of the hip are most common after age 50 and among women. Prevention begins in the home with the removal of all obstacles and other hooby traps. Slippery floors and loose scatter rugs are among the main offenders. Small rugs should be secured to the floor, or eliminated. Railings will provide support on going up and down stairs. The steps must be kept clear of objects such as balls, skates, baskets, and the vacuum cleaner.

Children's Dreams Come True In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—For a day New York was a city of children's dreams come true Friday.

A 6-year-old boy was promised the first steps of his life. Two Ohio youngsters got a subway train of their own. And 1,100 children from orphanages and welfare homes were turned into Macy's toy department with $5 each.

Young Damian Neusser, the national poster boy of the United Cerebral Palsy Association, will leave a hospital Saturday with both legs in casts but with the best Christmas present of his life.

Doctors said that when the casts are removed in a month he will be able to walk without crutches or braces for the first time.

The mother of the Manhattan youngster, the fifth of six children, said her husband, Albert Neusser, hoped that Damian would grow up to be an engineer like himself. But Damian remarked, "Oh, no. I'm going to be a doctor."

Robbie and Kerrie Whitaker of Cincinnati, the 1963 muscular dystrophy poster children, were brought here from Ohio by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Leigh Whitaker, for their subway ride.

Robbie, 7, said he had been on a "real train," but never a subway.

Cradled in the arms of policemen, the youngsters were carried aboard a new, 10-car train at Grand Central Station for a subway trip to the 1964-65 World's Fair site and back. Their wheel chairs went with them in the head car and the nine cars behind were empty.

The Macy's department store Christmas shopping spree was the 13th annual treat for orphans and welfare home children. They came from 19 institutions in the metropolitan area.

Each got a gift bag from the store Santa Claus—containing dolls, toys and games—and the $5 bill.

Most proved to be judicious shoppers, carefully looking over the merchandise before parting with their cash. But in any crowd there's a spendthrift.

One, 11-year-old Carlos, quickly bought a $4.97 chemistry set and announced happily to his pals, "Hey, I'm broke!"

Doretta, a tiny, 7-year-old blonde, wandered for more than an hour with her $5 bill pinned to her pink dress. Then she bought two dolls for $4 and plunked them into the Santa bag, which already contained a doll.

What was she going to do with all the dolls?

Surprised at adult imperfection, she patiently replied: "I'm going to take them home and play with them."

AMONG FIRST "CUSTOMERS" for Christmas fruit cake being sold by the Twin Cities' Civitan Clubs was the Ouachita Society for Crippled Children. The cake is being donated to the children as one of the treats to be served at their annual Christmas party December 19 at the Knights of Columbus hall, on Oliver Road. The Monroe Breakfast Civitan Club and the West

Monroe Civitan Club are selling the fruit cakes to raise funds to assist crippled and retarded children. ## Rights Fight Truce Comes Temporarily

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new fight which flared up over Senate rules—with civil rights implications back of it—subsided Thursday in a temporary truce which may last into January.

The scrap had threatened for a time to complicate plans to wind up the 1963 Congress session by Dec. 20. Southern Senators had raised filibuster signals.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., an advocate of what he calls "strong" civil rights legislation and who had helped to engineer the fight, waved it to an apparent end in a Senate speech.

Clark said he had been persuaded that "it would not be in the public interest" to get involved in a filibuster that might hold up the passage of bills the Senate leadership wants passed. He sparked absolutely no enthusiasm with a suggestion that the Senate remain in session "all night and all day tomorrow" to test out whether the Southerners really were determined to wage a filibuster fight.

Fractures of the hip are most common after age 50 and among women. Prevention begins in the home with the removal of all obstacles and other booby traps. Slippery floors and loose scatter rugs are among the main offenders. Small rugs should be secured to the floor, treated with a nonskid backing, or eliminated. Railings will provide support on going up and down stairs. The steps must be kept clear of objects such as balls, skates, baskets, and the vacuum cleaner.

Adequate hall lighting is a good precaution and there ought to be an electric switch near the bed so grandpa need not grope in the dark on getting up at night. Icy sidewalks and streets, along with high curbs, must be avoided for those who are not agile or whose bones have become weakened. These factors encourage fractures after a moderate or slight injury.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Reader's Digest acknowledged Friday that the Digest's World Atlas had erred in implying that the Tennessee River is not among the nation's navigable rivers.

A magazine spokesman said the error would be corrected in the next edition of the Atlas.

Several readers queried the magazine after noting the Tennessee River was not included on the Atlas' list of navigable rivers.

The spokesman said the list was based on a map obtained from the Mississippi Valley Association, a source recommended by the American Geographical Society, the Digest's adviser on the Atlas.

Oswald Widow Wants To Stay In U.S.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The Russian-born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald was quoted Friday as saying she wants to be an American and continue to live here.

The report came from Leona Williamson, 25, a Fort Worth housewife who has launched a fund for the wife and two children of President Kennedy's accused slayer, himself later shot to death.

Mrs. Williamson said contributions for the widow, Marina, have already come to $7,700.

Mrs. Williamson said Secret Service agents who visit her almost daily reported that figure even as contributions continue to pour in.

"I got $163 in the mail today," she said. "The donations come from everybody—you name the state."

Mrs. Williamson said she personally had received $1,200 mostly through the mail.

The dark-haired mother of four explained Secret Service agents are still guarding Marina Oswald and all contributions are channeled through them.

She quoted an agent, who turned some money over to Mrs. Oswald, as saying:

"She (Mrs. Oswald) just broke down and cried. She said in broken English, 'I didn't believe the people in America, the people anywhere, could be this nice. I was for him. She said she has never met any member of the Oswald family."

Mrs. Williamson said the federal agents have described Mrs. Oswald, 22, as "a very nice, highly intelligent woman who is real enthusiastic to learn the ways of America—she wants to be an American and continue to live here."

Mrs. Williamson, whose husband is employed at a cement company and is a licensed gunsmith, explained the motive behind her fund drive this way:

"It is the least we could do—something good in President Kennedy's name. President Kennedy was always for the underprivileged. I guess you would say he was a great humanitarian."

Several readers queried the magazine after noting the Tennessee River was not included on the Atlas' list of navigable rivers.

The spokesman said the list was based on a map obtained from the Mississippi Valley Association, a source recommended by the American Geographical Society, the Digest's adviser on the Atlas.

Oswald Widow Wants To Stay In U.S.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Russian-born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald was quoted Friday as saying she wants to be an American and continue to live here.

The report came from Leona Williamson, 25, a Fort Worth housewife who has launched a fund for the wife and two children of President Kennedy's accused slayer, himself later shot to death.

Mrs. Williamson said contributions for the widow, Marina, have already come to $7,700.

Mrs. Williamson said Secret Service agents who visit her almost daily reported that figure even as contributions continue to pour in.

"I got $163 in the mail today," she said. "The donations come from everybody—you name the state."

Mrs. Williamson said she personally had received $1,200 mostly through the mail.

The dark-haired mother of four explained Secret Service agents are still guarding Marina Oswald and all contributions are channeled through them.

She quoted an agent, who turned some money over to Mrs. Oswald, as saying:

"She (Mrs. Oswald) just broke down and cried. She said, in broken English, 'I didn't believe the people in America, the people anywhere, could be this nice."

Mrs. Williamson said the federal agents have described Mrs. Oswald, 22, as "a very nice, highly intelligent woman who is real enthusiastic to learn the ways of America—she wants to be an American and continue to live here."

Mrs. Williamson, whose husband is employed at a cement company and is a licensed gunsmith, explained the motive behind her fund drive this way:

"It is the least we could do—something good in President Kennedy's name. President Kennedy was always for the underprivileged. I guess you would say he was a great humanitarian. I was for him. She said she has never met any member of the Oswald family.

Somberness Marks Dallas Night Spots

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—In the smart, sophisticated supper clubs, the somber aftermath of President John F. Kennedy's assassination still prevails. In other places, the atmosphere is brassy and noisy.

Audiences seem to have shriveled, and people who do find themselves at a club where there is dining, dancing and entertainment react quietly as though they've been discovered doing the wrong thing.

A man who books acts and promotes shows and conventions said the gloom in such places will continue until Dec. 22.

"That's when the official period of mourning ends," he said. "And that's when all the military around here will let loose. The town'll live up plenty then."

The Carousel, the striptease club owned by Jack Ruby—the man who killed Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy—had a crowd of about 50 Thursday night in the dark room featuring—as the ads say—the "Southwest's only runway stage." They whistled at appropriate points in the progress of stripper Joy Dale's unpeeling.

NATIONAL COUNCIL MEET

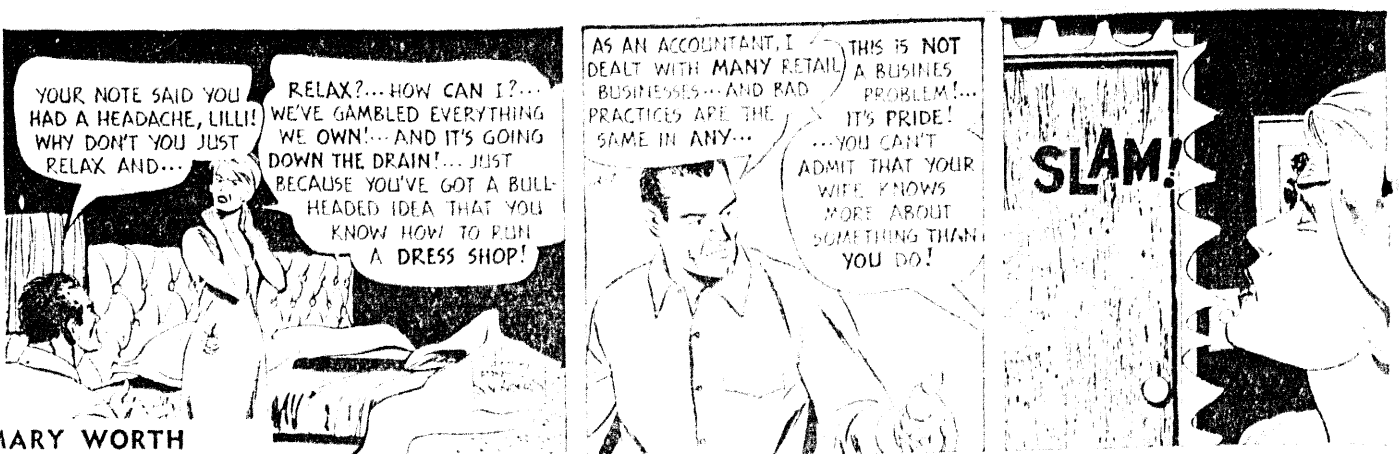

Churches Attack Discrimination

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The "without regard to race or color" and to permit all qualified ministers equal access to their pulpits.
It suggested, too, an interchange of white and Negro members between congregations on grounds "that racial pluralism enriches the experience of the Christian community."
In two companion actions the delegates unanimously adopted a so-called "message to the churches" and a "pronouncement on human rights" that broadened the council's condemnation of discrimination anywhere it may be found.
The delegates demanded that churches unite in support of federal, state and local laws that guarantee, without racial or religious discrimination:
—The right to vote and equal protection of the law.
—Equal access to education.
—Equal opportunity for jobs, union membership and promotion.
—The right to rent or buy and occupy housing anywhere.
—Access to all public accommodations.
The resolution also called on all churches to open membership and places of worship

NATIONAL COUNCIL MEET

Churches Attack Discrimination

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Council of Churches launched a broad attack Friday on every kind of racial, religious and economic discrimination. Its 40 million members were urged to give wholehearted support in a crusade for justice.

In a lengthy resolution, passed overwhelmingly after two hours of debate and amendments, delegates called upon the 31 church denominations comprising the council "to be willing to pay whatever price of unpopularity or sacrifice these acts (for racial justice) may entail."

The delegates demanded that churches unite in support of federal, state and local laws that guarantee, without racial or religious discrimination:

- The right to vote and equal protection of the law.
- Equal access to education.
- Equal opportunity for jobs, union membership and promotion.
- The right to rent or buy and occupy housing anywhere.
- Access to all public accommodations.

The resolution also called on all churches to open membership and places of worship

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

BROADWAY GRAPEVINE . . . Show folk in New York, Chicago and Hollywood were deeply affected by the murder of Irving Kupcinet's daughter, Karyn. Her father is one of the most popular columnists in the nation and everyone who knew "Cookie" was pleased that she was a hardworking and talented actress who seemed capable of making the grade without trading on her father's friendships with people of influence. On the afternoon of the day she was killed, Irving was talking on the long-distance phone to a New Yorker, proudly saying "Cookie is doing very well on the Coast, although of course (Mrs. Kupcinet) and I miss her very much."

A young Chicago friend of Cookie's reached by phone said: "I am stunned and horrified by the news, but as I think it over I am not really surprised. Cookie loved show business so much, and was so thrilled by the idea of being an actress. I'm afraid she sometimes ran with a group that was rather wild and included some people I would consider unsavory. I'm sure she never dreamed there was any danger in it for her—she probably thought it was part of being in show biz."

Richard Boone and his wife have mended their rift, leaving a lovely actress disconsolate. So much has been cut from "Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" that the producers could release an hour-long feature with the same array of big name stars if they spliced all the bits of celluloid on the cutting room floor. . . . Jack Ruby, killer of Lee Harvey Oswald, didn't leave Chicago for Dallas because he yearned for the fresh air of Texas. He limped out of the Windy City after having been taken for a ride by the "boys" and left for dead. At the time he was an active hoodlum in the very lucrative laundry shakedown racket.

Jack Entratter, popular boss of the Sands in Las Vegas, is reported hospitalized with a serious ulcer condition. . . . Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton plan to stay in Puerto Vallarta even after "Night of the Iguana" finishes filming. The lovers intend to remain at the Mexican resort until it's time to come to New York for Dickie's "rehearsals for 'Hamlet'."

The Ray Charles-Jean Belts paternity suit has been set for a hearing in Los Angeles in January. The blind singer denies fathering Miss Belts' child.

Picketing Flares In Jackson Again

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The would include "sitting, walking and standing."

More than 1,000 demonstrators against racial segregation in this capital city ended Friday.

Six Negro women were arrested when they appeared down town with anti-segregation signs. They were charged with parading without a permit and blocking the sidewalk.

Charles Evers, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said demonstrations will continue "until the mayor meets with us."

He listed six demands, including a biracial committee meeting, desegregation of public facilities and removal of segregation signs from public buildings.

The city was the scene of mass demonstrations last summer. Evers was killed from ambush by a sniper.

The chancery court injunction against demonstrations remains in effect. It was upheld by both the state and federal supreme courts.

At the time he was slain, Medgar Evers was state field secretary for the NAACP. He was replaced in the post by his brother, Charles.

Detective Chief M. B. Pierce said the six Negroes arrested were placed under $600 bond each.

Other demands made by Evers included the hiring of qualified Negro city bus drivers, additional Negro police and crossing guards, and an improvement in Negro civil service job opportunities.

Evers said demonstrations

Youth Agency

Depicts Oswald As Boy Loner

NEW YORK (AP)—A counseling agency for boys reported Friday that Lee Harvey Oswald was something of a loner as a youth.

The agency, Big Brothers, Inc., said he was "displeased with the pressure for him to join in group activities with other youngsters."

Adalbert von Gontard Jr., president of the agency, said one of its case workers had six contacts in December 1963 and January 1964 with Oswald, the accused assassin of John F. Kennedy.

Oswald was a teen-ager when he lived here with his mother, Howard A. Kieval, the agency's executive director, said the youth showed an interest in sports, television, model making and reading.

Kieval said Oswald was "unusual in terms of the community" but not unusual in terms of the pattern of conduct of many youngsters aided by the agency.

Jaycees Slate Christmas Home Lighting Contest

The Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced plans for the annual Christmas home lighting contest.

Contest chairman Jeff Walter said Friday that judging will be held from 7 p.m. Dec. 19 and that deadline for entries will be at noon on the 19th.

Walter said entries should be mailed to him on a postcard with the name of the contestant and the address of the house to be judged. Cards should be mailed to Walter at 1205 N. 18th St. (suite 217) in Monroe.

Decorations can be in any cost range and there will be no variations as to class or category, Walter said that a plaque will be awarded for first place and certificates for second and third.

Awards will be made at a luncheon meeting in January. He emphasized that no house will be judged unless he receives a notification of entry prior to the deadline.

Jury Convicts Thompson In Knife Slaying Of Wife; Judge Rules Life Term

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—T. Eugene Thompson was convicted of murder by a six-man, six-woman jury Friday night and was immediately sentenced to a life term in prison.

The verdict came nine months to the day after the bludgeon knife slaying of Thompson's wife, Carol, which the jurors decided had been engineered by the defendant.

Judge Rolf Fosseen commended jurors for their work, saying: "Your responsibility has been tremendous. I am satisfied you have done the job seriously and conscientiously without fear or favor."

Prosecutor William Randall moved for imposition of sentence and Thompson was called before the bench.

The judge then asked if he had anything to tell the court. "No," answered the defendant, and sentence was then imposed. There was no indication when the term might be started.

No appeal motion was filed Friday night by Hyman Segell, defense counsel.

Pending an appeal and possible release of Thompson on bond, the attorney will be from Hennepin County jail to the state prison at Stillwater at the discretion of the Hennepin sheriff.

Under Minnesota law, a man convicted of first-degree murder can be freed on bond provided it is met. Prosecutor William Randall said Friday night he felt any bond should be considerably higher than the $10,000 bond on which Thompson was free during his trial.

The jury filed into the courtroom at 6:14 p.m. Judge Rolf Fosseen asked if the panel had reached a verdict.

Foreman Sidney C. Becker replied that a verdict had been reached. He then delivered the sealed verdict to the court clerk, who handed it to Fosseen.

The judge asked the clerk to read the verdict.

As the word "guilty" was read, Thompson lowered his head, then turned and looked at the jury.

Defense attorney Hyman Segell said he wanted the jury polled. Each member in turn was asked, "Is this your true verdict?"

Each of the six women and six men in turn replied, "Yes."

The verdict came 26½ hours after the panel had received the case with time out for eating and sleeping. It was estimated they had deliberated about 12 hours.

Every seat in the courtroom was filled.

Jury members refused to answer questions from newsmen.

Sole comment came from Becker, the foreman, who said six or eight ballots had been taken. He said the panel explored every angle of the case.

Becker said there were no major deadlocks.

Conviction of first-degree murder carries a mandatory life prison term. Time off for good behavior and parole can result in a life's release after 17 years.

The prosecution labeled the death a murder-for-hire killing purchased by Thompson to reap more than $1 million in insurance on his wife and to free him for romance with a twice-married secretary.
